Buried in the Red Dirt Frances S. Hasso, 2021-12-02 Bringing together a vivid array of analog and non traditional sources including colonial archives newspaper reports literature oral histories and interviews Buried in the Red Dirt tells a story of life death reproduction and missing bodies and experiences during and since the British colonial period in Palestine Using transnational feminist reading practices of existing and new archives the book moves beyond authorized frames of collective pain and heroism Looking at their day to day lives where Palestinians suffered most from poverty illness and high rates of infant and child mortality Frances Hasso's book shows how ideologically and practically racism and eugenics shaped British colonialism and Zionist settler colonialism in Palestine in different ways especially informing health policies She examines Palestinian anti reproductive desires and practices before and after 1948 critically engaging with demographic scholarship that has seen Zionist commitments to Jewish reproduction projected onto Palestinians This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core

Boy's Life Robert McCammon, 2011-10-18 An Alabama boy's innocence is shaken by murder and madness in the 1960s South in this novel by the New York Times bestselling author of Swan Song It's 1964 in idyllic Zephyr Alabama People either work for the paper mill up the Tecumseh River or for the local dairy It's a simple life but it stirs the impressionable imagination of twelve year old aspiring writer Cory Mackenson He's certain he's sensed spirits whispering in the churchyard He's heard of the weird bootleggers who lurk in the dark outside of town He's seen a flood leave Main Street crawling with snakes Cory thrills to all of it as only a young boy can Then one morning while accompanying his father on his milk route he sees a car careen off the road and slowly sink into fathomless Saxon's Lake His father dives into the icy water to rescue the driver and finds a beaten corpse naked and handcuffed to the steering wheel a copper wire tightened around the stranger's neck. In time the townsfolk seem to forget all about the unsolved murder. But Cory and his father can't. Their search for the truth is a journey into a world where innocence and evil collide. What lies before them is the stuff of fear and awe: magic and madness, fantasy and reality. As Cory wades into the deep end of Zephyr and all its mysteries, he'll discover that while the pleasures of childish things fade away, growing up can be a strange and beautiful ride. Strongly echoing the childhood elegies of King and Bradbury and every bit their equal, Boy's Life a winner of both the Bram Stoker and World Fantasy Awards represents a brilliant blend of mystery and rich atmosphere, the finest work of one of today's most accomplished writers. Kirkus Reviews Selling the Serengeti Benjamin Gardner, 2016-02-15

Situating safari tourism within the discourses and practices of development, Selling the Serengeti examines the relationship between the Maasai people of northern Tanzania and the extraordinary influence of foreign-owned ecotourism and big game hunting companies. It contrasts two major approaches to community conservation: international NGO and state-sponsored conservation efforts on the one hand, and the neoliberal private investment in tourism on the other, and investigates their profound effect on the Maasai's culture and livelihood. It further explores how these changing social and economic forces remake the terms through which state institutions and local people engage with foreign investors, communities, and their own territories. And finally, it highlights how the new tourism arrangements change the shape and meaning of the nation-state and the village and, in the process, remake cultural belonging and citizenship. Benjamin Gardner's experiences in Tanzania began during a study abroad trip in 1991. His stay led to a relationship with the nation and the Maasai people in Loliondo lasting almost twenty years; it also marked the beginning of his analysis of and ethnographic research into social movements, market-led conservation, and neoliberal development around the Serengeti. The Raven's Daughter Peggy A. Wheeler, 2016-04-15

A Murdering Monster and a Myth Come to Life After a police shootout where she killed a man, criminologist Maggie Tall Bear Sloan retires from the force to enjoy peace and quiet in rural California. When sets of young twins are murdered in her town, the local sheriff recruits her to solve the gruesome killings. But to catch a killer, Maggie either accepts her true nature as a pukukwerek, the shapeshifting monster-killer of Yurok legend, or more children will die. As the manhunt intensifies and her own family is threatened, Maggie will do whatever it takes to keep them safe. Whether she's awake or asleep, dreaming, Maggie is faced with a difficult choice: embrace her heritage even if it means turning into myth itself, or deny that heritage and lose everything. The History of Surfing Matt Warshaw, 2011-04-29
