Lucille Clifton - 1936-2010

(at St. Mary's)

may the tide that is entering even now the lip of our understanding carry you out beyond the face of fear may you kiss
the wind then turn from it certain that it will love your back may you open your eyes to water water waving forever and may you in your innocence sail through this to that

The Decline of the Death Penalty and the Discovery of Innocence

Frank R. Baumgartner, Suzanna L. De Boef, Amber E. Boydston, 2008-01-07 Since 1996 death sentences in America have declined by more than 60 percent reversing a generation long trend toward greater acceptance of capital punishment In theory most Americans continue to support the death penalty But it is no longer seen as a theoretical matter Prosecutors judges and juries across the country have moved in large numbers to give much greater credence to the possibility of mistakes mistakes that in this arena are potentially fatal The discovery of innocence documented in this book through painstaking analyses of media coverage and with newly developed methods has led to historic shifts in public opinion and to a sharp decline in use of the death penalty by juries across the country A social cascade starting with legal clinics and innocence projects has snowballed into a national phenomenon that may spell the end of the death penalty in America
