

Dalits and Discourses of Anti-caste Movements in Kerala, India

K.S. Madhavan¹, Rajesh Komath²

Abstract

This article locates various historical discourses of anti-caste imaginaries and articulations that are imprinted in the historical past of Kerala society. Unravelling historical and social theoretical trends, it examines broadly an anti-caste imaginary articulating notions of equality and addressing various events, personnel interventions, policies and ideologies made discursive politics in Kerala. As ideologies and its consequent effects upon society are political, the article substantially makes comments and interprets the Dalit-Bahujan world grounded on the lived experiences of Dalits in Kerala. The article brings forth discourses of social movements, production of Dalit icons, critical narratives on untouchability and communist positions about caste. But, a new imagination, academic and aesthetical engagements of Dalit-Bahujans in the form of the production of Dalit art and literature informs new articulation of Dalit politics in Kerala.

Introduction

A particular socio-economic and cultural system in sub-continental India has developed a systemic social world of distinctive lives based on life activities and social division of labourers. These everyday social divisions in the historical past have been caste-based structural inequalities that led to the complex social formation process and emergence of multiple forms of political structure. This explicates that forms of power relations were conditioned by ranking social groups in a hierarchical order. The top of the ladder is always endowed with reverence and all the layers below have been placed according Islamic Reform and Colonial Discourse on Modernity in India Jose Abraham, 2014-12-09 In Kerala Vakkom Moulavi motivated Muslims to embrace modernity especially modern education in order to reap maximum benefit In this process he initiated numerous religious reforms However he held fairly ambivalent attitudes towards individualism materialism and secularization defending Islam against the attacks of Christian missionaries The Future Conditional Eric S.

Henry, 2021-05-15 In The Future Conditional Eric S Henry brings twelve years of expertise and research to offer a nuanced discussion of the globalization of the English language and the widespread effects it has had on Shenyang the capital and largest city of China's northeast Liaoning Province Adopting an ethnographic and linguistic perspective Henry considers the personal connotations that English has for Chinese people beyond its role in the education system Through research on how English is spoken taught and studied in China Henry considers what the language itself means to Chinese speakers How and why he asks has English become so deeply fascinating in contemporary China simultaneously existing as a source of desire and anxiety The answer he suggests is that English speaking Chinese consider themselves distinctly separate from those who do not speak the language the result of a cultural assumption that speaking English makes a person modern Seeing language as a study that goes beyond the classroom The Future Conditional assesses the emerging viewpoint that for many citizens speaking English in China has become a cultural need and more immediately a realization of one's future Youth, Class and Education in Urban India David Sancho, 2015-12-22

Urban India is undergoing a rapid transformation which also encompasses the educational sector Since 1991 this important new market in private English medium schools along with an explosion of private coaching centres has transformed the lives of children and their families as the attainment of the best education nurtures the aspirations of a growing number of Indian citizens Set in urban Kerala the book discusses changing educational landscapes in the South Indian city of Kochi a local hub for trade tourism and cosmopolitan middle class lifestyles Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork the author examines the way education features as a major way the transformation of the city and India in general are experienced and envisaged by upwardly mobile residents Schooling is shown to play a major role in urban lifestyles with increased privatisation representing a response to the educational strategies of a growing and heterogeneous middle class whose educational choices reflect broader projects of class formation within the context of religious and caste diversity particular to the region This path breaking new study of a changing Indian middle class and new relationships with educational institutions contributes to the growing body of work on the experiences and meanings of schooling for youths their parents and the wider community and thereby adds a unique anthropologically informed perspective to South Asian studies urban studies and the study of education Contextualizing Indian

Congress on Kerala Studies, 27-29 August 1994, Thiruvananthapuram , 1994 Population Governance Discourses Shareena Banu C. P., 2014-11-05 Our discursive universe is unequivocally emblematic of the use of numerous problematic conceptual categories They are problematic in two significant ways with respect to this study One is of course the disjunction between their conceptual provenances and the sites of their contemporary usage and secondly their stereotypical character Apart from this vital problem is the sizeable quantum of literature produced on Indian Society especially its Muslim population and the pervasive influence of these writings in laying down the conditions for any new narrative Illiteracy backwardness underdevelopment social mobility and many such derived expressions have become the main academic thematic to describe Muslims and was mostly the case while narrating the life of Muslims of Kerala also Therefore for analyzing the contemporary Indian society the method of governmentality has been employed and explicated in the context of contemporary educational discourses in Kerala society with special reference to Muslim population It addresses certain questions concerning the contemporary outcomes of colonial and postcolonial governmental practices
