Towards a Critical Multicultural Literacy Danny K. Weil, 1998 Towards a Critical Multicultural Literacy claims that in a pluralistic society education should affirm and encourage the quest for self examination through social transformation by creating relevant problem posing activities that allow students to confront through reasoning the challenges offered by everyday life's diverse reality Dr Weil specifically examines traditional views of education critical thinking advocate views of education critical pedagogy advocate views of education and multicultural views of education as they historically and currently exist both in theory and in practice The Illustrated London News, 1873 Repeated Readings in Poetry Versus Prose Lori Pierce, 2012 This study examined the effectiveness of repeated readings in four second grade classrooms in two urban elementary schools in Northwest Ohio As determined by the Ohio Department of Education 75% of the students in each building must score at or above the proficient level For the 2008-2009 school year Building A a school within one of Ohio's urban settings had a passage rate of 65.7% and Building B in the same district had a lower passage rate of 58.1%. To evaluate the effectiveness of the 10-week repeated reading session of poetry and prose, the following research questions were addressed: a) What is the effect of repeated readings of poetry versus repeated reading of narrative passages on fluency (Words Correct Per Minute) over a 10-week intervention? b) What is the effect of repeated readings of poetry versus repeated reading of narrative passages on fluency and prosody over a 10-week intervention? c) What is the effect of repeated readings of poetry versus repeated reading of narrative passages on reading comprehension over a 10-week intervention? d) What is the effect of repeated reading of poetry on students' attitudes toward reading as compared to the repeated readings of narrative passages? Mixed methods design was selected for this study due to both quantitative and qualitative methods of data collection. The quantitative data represents the scores on the pre and post tests of Words Correct Per Minute, retelling rubric, Elementary Reading Attitude Survey, and prosody rubric. The qualitative data within the study consisted of student questionnaires, student interviews, and teacher journals following the 10-week repeated readings project. Within this study, statistical significance was demonstrated in the areas of improvement in Words Correct Per Minute, phrasing, and smoothness, making repeated readings a viable addition to reading instruction. Additionally, the results suggested that attitudes toward reading for poetry were more positive than attitudes toward reading of narrative passages.

By the Rubric of Rhythm, They'll Read Cherie A. Ward M.A.T. B.A., 2022-05-03 By the Rubric of Rhythm They'll Read offers poetry as an alternative approach for teaching children reading below basic to succeed. It opens doors and new horizons for students placed at risk while tapping into their multiple intelligences that standardized tests may have missed. The book discusses the history of public schooling and the reading literacy paradigm, addressing the problem while presenting solutions that stimulate and liberate students' minds. It is the examination into real-world social and interactional contexts while promoting individual agency through oral, written, visual, and the arts while fusing technology at its best. Presenting poetry as the spark that will encourage students to learn as they have fun, dance, and sing, the book takes into account their prior knowledge and the cultural capital they bring. The author introduces her original lesson plans and programs: Lumumba's Playground and Laughing and Learning with Language as vehicles to renegotiate texts for diverse learners to engage, educate, and entertain.
