Profile: South Africa Tim Doling, 1999 New South African Review 1 Doreen Atkinson, Prishani Naidoo, Devan Pillay, Roger Southall, 2010-11-01 Is South Africa on a long term decline The New South African Review revives the tradition of critical analytical scholarship developed by the South African Review in the 1970s and 1980s Accessible to a wide readership and drawing upon authors from well beyond academia its objective is to be informative discursive and at times downright provocative It seeks to provide contemporary comment and engage with current controversies The first volume in the series 2010 Development or Decline ranges widely across the implications of the international crisis for the economy the threats to our fragile ecology of present economic strategies through to the state of the ANC and the public service issues around service delivery migration HIV Aids land reform crime the sexual behaviour of our youth and much more Posing the provocative question of whether South Africa is embarking upon a long term decline the volume simultaneously argues the potential for a society premised upon social equality social coherence and sustainability This collection will appeal to both national and international audiences interested in engaging with the multiple dilemmas and challenges facing contemporary South Africa COMLA Newsletter , 1997 Beyond Memory Max Mojapelo, 2008 South Africa possesses one of the richest popular music traditions in the world from marabi to mbaqanga from boeremusiek to bubblegum from kwela to kwaito Yet the risk that future generations of South Africans will not know their musical roots is very real Of all the recordings made here since the 1930s thousands have been lost for ever for the powers that be never deemed them worthy of preservation And if one peruses the books that exist on South African popular music one still finds that their authors have on occasion jumped to conclusions that were not as foregone as they had assumed Yet the fault lies not with them rather in the fact that there has been precious little documentation in South Africa of who played what or who recorded what with whom and when This is true of all music making in this country though it is most striking in the musics of the black communities Beyond Memory Recording the History Moments and Memories of South African Music is an invaluable publication because it offers a first hand account of the South African music scene of the past decades from the pen of a man Max Thamagana Mojapelo who was situated in the very thick of things thanks to his job as a deejay at the South African Broadcasting Corporation This book astonishing for the breadth of its coverage is based on his diaries on interviews he conducted and on numerous other sources and we find in it not only the well known names of recent South African music but a countless host of others whose contribution must be recorded if we and future generations are to gain an accurate picture of South African music history of the late 20th and early 21st centuries Africa Remix Simon Njami, 2007 Africa remix Contemporary art of a continent features the work of more than 85 artists from 25 countries on the African continent and the Diaspora Cosmopolitan Perspectives on Academic Leadership in Higher Education Feng Su, Margaret Wood, 2017-02-23 This book explores what academic leadership in higher education might mean in the cosmopolitan and increasingly globalised 21st century through individual academics narrative accounts drawn from a range of international contexts The book shows that academic leadership is key to an individual's development and that it could mean different things in different settings as academics operate across the levels of professional practice institutional organisation sector wide systems and international networks This book argues for the importance of cosmopolitan perspectives on academic leadership which are developed from the particularities of local and everyday situated experience Part I of the book explores key theoretical perspectives Part II provides first hand accounts from the contributors of their own development as academic leaders and Part III discusses some of the implications for those with responsibility for academic development and for all those concerned with developing the qualities necessary for leadership practices
