Harrison, Stavros Frangoulidis, Theodore D. Papanghelis, 2018-10-08 Recent years have witnessed an increased interest in classical studies in the ways meaning is generated through the medium of intertextuality namely how different texts of the same or different authors communicate and interact with each other Attention although on a lesser scale has also been paid to the manner in which meaning is produced through interaction between various parts of the same text or body of texts within the overall production of a single author namely intratextuality Taking off from the seminal volume on Intratextuality Greek and Roman Textual Relations edited by A Sharrock H Morales Oxford 2000 which largely sets the theoretical framework for such internal associations within classical texts this collective volume brings together twenty seven contributions written by an international team of experts exploring the evolution of intratextuality from Late Republic to Late Antiquity across a wide range of authors genres and historical periods Of particular interest are also the combined instances of intra and intertextual poetics as well as the way in which intratextuality in Latin literature draws on reading practices and critical methods already theorized and operative in Greek antiquity AIDS in the Heartland Katie Batza, 2025-09-16 Histories of AIDS in the United States typically regard San Francisco and New York to be the epicenters of the crisis The Midwest if considered at all appears as a footnote to the social medical and political struggles of coastal queer communities But the US heartland cultivated its own distinct strategies for survival that became the surprising and lasting blueprint for LGBTQ politics today Unearthing this complex story health activism expert Katie Batza masterfully illustrates the diversity resilience innovation and influence of the Midwest's responses to the AIDS epidemic Though AIDS cases were relatively low compared to the coasts the conservative political and religious landscape lack of medical infrastructure and diffuse gay communities brought Midwesterners together in unexpected ways Weaving compelling oral histories with remarkable archival research Batza sheds light on the moving stories of a constellation of essential responders such as crop duster pilots church van drivers nuns tribal leaders and synagogue ladies in places such as decommissioned convents backyard barbecues high school gyms and city parks These unique collaborations fostered loud radical queer politics and homonormative strategies alike but the myth of a homogenously white Christian and heterosexual heartland endured In AIDS in the Heartland Batza contends that the respectability and palatability of the heart of the nation prevail as core values in national LGBTQ political strategies today Health literacy development for the prevention and control of noncommunicable diseases World Health Organization, 2022-11-07 Environmental Health Perspectives , 2007-08
