Tramps in Dark Mongolia John Hedley, 1910 Varieties of Capitalism in History, Transition and Emergence Martha Prevezer, 2017-03-27 Economics tends to teach that developed countries have good institutions while developing countries do not and that this is the factor that constrains the latter's growth However the picture is far messier than this explanation suggests Building on the varieties of capitalism framework this book brings together the tools of institutional economics with historical analyses of institutional evolution of different kinds of property rights and legal systems protected by different kinds of state giving rise to distinct corporate governance structures It constructs institutional development histories across leading liberal capitalisms in Britain and the United States compared with continental capitalisms in France and Germany and contemporary transitional capitalisms in China and Tanzania This volume is innovative in combining both historical and economic insights and in combining developed country with developing country institutional emergence dispelling the prevailing sense of complacency about the inevitability of the path of institutional development for the developed areas of the world and the paths that developing countries are likely to follow This volume will be of great importance to those who study international economics development economics and international business "The" Historians' History of the World Henry Smith Williams, 1907 Historicizing Fiction/Fictionalizing History Nishevita J. Murthy, 2014-10-16 Historicizing Fiction Fictionalizing History brings together two authors Umberto Eco and Orhan Pamuk not frequently studied in comparison By focusing on their non-fictional works to present a unique study of the methods and concepts of representation Murthy uses contemporary historical novels to examine fictional depictions of reality and provides a fresh perspective on representation studies in literature Written in an accessible style and tapping into fields as varied as literary and critical theory the historical novel postmodernism and historiography Historicizing Fiction Fictionalizing History considers the ways in which reality as discourse confronts a text external reality and how this confrontation affects the autonomy of the fictional space topics that remain persistently problematic areas within literary studies Eco's The Name of the Rose and Baudolino and Pamuk's My Name is Red and Snow with their topical concerns and methods of representation promise a rewarding comparative study This book provides an early critical framework for these four works placing them within the rubric of the postmodernist historical novel as creative works that also comment on the process of literary writing through their recreation of historical pasts In this respect Historicizing Fiction Fictionalizing History promises to be an engaging read in literary criticism and historiography as well as a handy companion for Eco and Pamuk enthusiasts Making History in Banda Ann Brower Stahl, 2001-08-02 Drawing on evidence from several disciplines Ann Brower Stahl reconstructs the daily lives of Banda villagers of west central Ghana from the time that they were drawn into the Niger trade around AD 1300 until British
