Civic Education in the Elementary Grades Dana Mitra,Stephanie C. Serriere,2015 As former elementary school teachers the authors focus on what is possible in schools rather than a romantic vision of what schools could be Based on a 5 year study of an elementary school this book shows how civic engagement can be purposive and critical a way to encourage young people to examine their environment to notice and question injustices and to take action to make a difference in their communities and school Focusing on the intersection of student voice and critical inquiry the book describes how to embed civic engagement into curriculum school decision making processes and whole school activities Chapters provide an overview of what research has demonstrated about civic engagement at the classroom school and community levels including detailed descriptions of activities and lessons for practice Classroom teachers school principals community members and teacher educators can use this resource to foster a deeper richer understanding of what is entailed in civic life Book Features A vivid portrait of a typical public school that wants to do more than teach to the test An examination of the conditions that enable young people to participate in democratic practices including identifying and questioning injustices Concrete examples of student voice and critical inquiry in classroom contexts Practices and activities that encourage children to get along with others exchange perspectives and work across differences Offers a suggestive range of evidence that high quality civic engagement initiatives can enhance students academic social and emotional engagement It reveals the nitty gritty of how experienced teachers can enable children who are immersed in meaningful civic work also to engage more deeply with mathematical problem solving peer collaboration literacy and social studies learning and development of empathy and mutual trust From the Foreword by Meira Levinson Mitra and Serriere show us not only that elementary aged children are capable of civic engagement but how such engagement can be nurtured in the classroom Children can be active civic participants this book demonstrates both the power of this idea and how we might accomplish this essential task Beth C Rubin Rutgers University Project Citizen

Current Trends in Civic Education Madonna Murphy, 2004 Citizenship is a quality that most Americans would agree should be promoted in the schools Values education as we have seen provokes controversy and the question Whose values are you going to teach An acceptable response is Values of citizenship American democratic values and the values upon which our country was founded This paper shows us how the U S Blue Ribbon schools use their citizenship programs to assist in the development of the character of their students Citizenship programs are usually found within the social studies curriculum but are also found integrated throughout the school in various other programs This paper presents answers to the following questions 1 What are the essential characteristics that make a citizenship program character education and not just civic education 2 What are the democratic values that we want to foster in our nation s schools 3 Why is it important to involve students in decision making in order to develop character and citizenship and 4 What are some ways that students can develop good character by caring within the classroom This paper reports on documentary and qualitative research conducted on the U S Department of Education Blue Ribbon Schools to see the different ways in which these schools promote the character of their students through their citizenship programs A character building citizenship program emphasizes the development of specific democratic qualities such as justice respect fairness cooperation persistence moral responsibility empathy and caring In order to develop these virtues schools have given students opportunities in the classroom to practice actions of caring concern for others generosity and kindness Evaluations of these activities in the Blue Ribbon schools and in other schools that have also implemented these programs have shown them to be effective in helping students develop their character and thereby act as good citizens
