Why Congress Needs Women Michele A. Paludi, 2016-01-18 This book addresses women's civil strategies for negotiation and leadership through careful analysis of social science research and management theory, as well as interviews with women legislators documenting how women in Washington are affecting the development of the world at all levels. In October 2013, after the war between Republican and Democratic men in Congress resulted in a government shutdown, Time magazine referred to the women legislators as the only adults left in Washington. In Why Congress Needs Women: Bringing Sanity to the House and Senate, editor Michele A. Paludi and various contributors explain how women in Washington have redefined leadership and power by embracing a transformational leadership style, a style that incorporates empowerment, ethics, nurturance, inclusiveness, and social justice transcending their own self-interests for the good of the group or, in the case of the shut down, for the good of the nation. A resource that will prove invaluable for anyone interested in politics and leadership, as well as students taking courses in politics, women's studies, gender studies, or management, the chapters provide an in depth review of the ways women in Washington are striving to find lasting solutions to our nation's challenges. The contributors document the mindset and methodologies women legislators are using to achieve their legislative goals and work toward creating gender equitable environments in Washington's well-established climate where bullying harassment and sexual exploitation is perceived as normative. Insights from interviews with women senators and congress members enhance the scholarship discussed in this book.

Transnational Literacy Autobiographies as Translingual Writing Suresh Canagarajah, 2019-07-08 The literacy autobiography is a personal narrative reflecting on how one's experiences of spoken and written words have contributed to their ongoing relationship with language and literacy. Transnational Literacy Autobiographies as Translingual Writing is a cutting-edge study of this engaging genre of writing in academic and professional contexts. In this state-of-the-art collection, Suresh Canagarajah brings together 11 samples of writing by students that both document their literary journeys and pinpoint the seminal works affecting their development as translingual readers and writers. Integrating the narrative of the author, which is written as his own literacy autobiography, with a close analysis of these texts, this book presents a case for the literacy autobiography as an archetypal genre that prepares writers for the conventions and processes required in other genres of writing. It demonstrates the serious epistemological and rhetorical implications behind the genre of literacy autobiography among migrant scholars and students, effectively translates theoretical publications on language diversity for classroom purposes, providing a transferable teaching approach to translingual writing, analyzes the tropes of transnational writers and their craft in meshing translingual resources in their writing, demonstrates how transnationalism and translingualism are interconnected, guiding readers toward an understanding of codemeshing not as a cosmetic addition to texts but motivated toward resolving inescapable personal and social dilemmas. Written and edited by one of the most highly regarded linguists of his generation, this book is key reading for scholars and students of applied linguistics, TESOL, and literacy studies, as well as tutors of writing and composition worldwide.
