Penn,2020-03-02 Kara Farrington has a perfect life she has a boyfriend her parents love the money to buy Prada shoes and a friend who loves shopping with her Except Kara has grown indifferent toward her boyfriend doesn t care much about her parents money and hates shopping Her motto is fake it till you make it and it s been doing her just fine even if perfect doesn t actually mean happy When Kara receives birthday gifts full of betrayal and heartache her perfect life begins to crumble All Kara wants is to continue her grandpa s legacy by joining the family law business to help those less fortunate Gramps is Kara s role model and after she graduates from college she wants to use the power of law to help people But with her anxiety stage fright and well practiced faux life convincing her parents she s ready for the pre law track seems impossible Her parents have a different plan for her marry someone who meets their prerequisites for love Kara s parents give her an ultimatum they ll continue paying for college and let her work in the family law business after Kara brings home a guy who fits their mold Desperate Kara begs Dean Sawyer a renowned playboy in school to be her fake boyfriend for the semester Dean is secretive and averse to a serious relationship and he s everything her parents wouldn t approve of but confident Dean can smooth talk anyone Even Kara As their charade progresses their chemistry grows and Kara has to keep herself from falling for swoon worthy secret keeping Dean After all how can two people living a lie ever truly experience love Soon Kara must choose accept her true self and risk heartbreak or keep faking it till she gets everything she s worked for Helen of Troy Ruby Blondell,2015 Helen of Troy engages with the ancient origins of the persistent anxiety about female beauty focusing on this key figure from ancient Greek culture in a way that both extends our understanding of that culture and provides a useful perspective for reconsidering aspects of our own Essays on Roman Satire William S. Anderson,2014-07-14 The fifteen essays collected here argue that Roman verse satire should be viewed primarily as an art form rather than as a social document or a direct expression of social protest Originally published between 1956 and 1974 they constitute an impressive attempt to free Roman satire from misinterpretations that arose during the romantic era and that continue to plague scholars in the field The author rejects the proposition that Juvenal and other satirists expressed spontaneous unadorned anger and that the critic s best approach is the study of the historical social economic and personal circumstances that led to their statement of that anger This work develops his thesis that Roman satire was designed as a literary form and that the proper stance of the critic is to elucidate its art Focusing on the dramatic character of the first person speaker in the satires of Horace Persius and Juvenal the author shows both how the speaker s role was shaped to suit the purposes of the individual poems and how that role changed over successive collections of satires Several essays also discuss the ways in which the satirists employed metaphors and similes and used contemporary ethical and rhetorical themes Originally published in 1982 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
