

MARGARET A. OGOLA

A young girl with dark skin and short, curly hair is shown from the chest up, looking back over her right shoulder towards the camera. She is wearing a light-colored, possibly wet, tank top. The background is a serene sunset scene over a body of water, with a soft orange glow on the horizon and a deep blue sky with scattered clouds. The water reflects the colors of the sky.

A Study Guide to Margaret A. Ogola's The River and the Source Busolo Wegesa, 1999 A Comprehensive Guide to Margaret A. Ogola's The River and the Source J. O. Oloo, 1999 Margaret Ogola The River and the Source Jorge P Lopez, 2023-12-13

The study of the modern African novel has been quite a challenge both at the high school and at the university level. This is especially so for novels that address traditional tenets of the African society. These novels however form a good corpus as a basis for comparative literature especially looking at the African novel as compared to its European or the American counterpart. Still the ordinary critic is used to earlier African writers including Ngugi Achebe Soyinka and the rest. Margaret Ogola presents a challenging novel in The River and the Source because it examines the modern African society. This critical book of this novel affords the reader all the necessary angles from which this novel can be seen including Plot Character Themes and Elements of Style. It goes further to examine common ways of examining the novel by giving excerpt and essay questions and explaining in detail how such questions should be approached. The book focuses on the national exam in Kenya the Kenya Certificate of Secondary Examination through which candidates matriculate and qualify for entry to the university. This however should give a good insight to any candidate worldwide regardless of the examination they are supposed to sit for. The book looks at the division of time as well as thinking how to earn marks and ensuring the candidate gains as much as possible of what is given. These explanations will allow the candidate of a different examination to adjust depending on the time allowed and the marks given for questions in that particular examination. This makes this book applicable to the student of the novel and the African novel in particular anywhere in the world.

The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 Simon Gikandi, Evan Mwangi, 2007

The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 challenges the conventional belief that the English language literary traditions of East Africa are restricted to the former British colonies of Kenya Uganda and Tanzania. Instead these traditions stretch far into such neighboring countries as Somalia and Ethiopia. Simon Gikandi and Evan Mwangi assemble a truly inclusive list of major writers and trends. They begin with a chronology of key historical events and an overview of the emergence and transformation of literary culture in the region. Then they provide an alphabetical list of major writers and brief descriptions of their concerns and achievements. Some of the writers discussed include the Kenyan novelists Grace Ogot and Ngugi wa Thiong'o Ugandan poet and essayist Taban Lo Liyong Ethiopian playwright and poet Tsegaye Gabre Medhin Tanzanian novelist and diplomat Peter Palangyo.

Ethiopian novelist Berhane Mariam Sahle Sellassie and the novelist M G Vassanji who portrays the Indian diaspora in Africa Europe and North America Separate entries within this list describe thematic concerns such as colonialism decolonization the black aesthetic and the language question the growth of genres like autobiography and popular literature important movements like cultural nationalism and feminism and the impact of major forces such as AIDS HIV Christian missions and urbanization Comprehensive and richly detailed this guide offers a fresh perspective on the role of East Africa in the development of African and world literature in English and a new understanding of the historical cultural and geopolitical boundaries of the region

Globalism and Gendering Cancer Miriam O'Kane Mara,2019-11-07 This book connects a rhetorical examination of medical and public health policy documents with a humanistic investigation of cultural texts to uncover the link between gendered representations of health and cancer The author argues that in western biomedical contexts cancer is considered a women s disease and their bodies are treated as inherently oncogenic or cancer producing which leads to biomedical practices that adversely impact their bodily autonomy She examines how these biases traverse national boundaries by examining the transmission of biomedical cancer practices from the US and international organizations to Kenya This book is suited to scholars and students working in the fields of Rhetorics of Health and Medicine Medical Humanities and Gender Studies It is also of interest to medical professionals and readers interested in globalism and global health

African Languages, Literatures, and Postcolonial Modernity Samba Camara,Mohamed Mwamzandi,2024-01-26 This book offers a fresh look into the languages of postcolonial modernity in Africa and to a lesser degree its diaspora It foregrounds the notion of postcolonial modernity in reference to modernization as experienced in the postcolony and its contemporary legacies and investigates how African languages and literatures both as means of communication and as instruments of cultural agency have embodied and mediated modernity Each chapter grapples with the literary or linguistic dimensions of postcolonial modernity as portrayed in African novels film poetry or popular music or as embodied in African and Afro diasporic languages and dialects The chapters also reveal how literature and language respectively document and embody discourses phenomena histories ideologies and beliefs that resulted from the legacies of colonialism
