

ACCOUNTING STANDARDS AND OTHER REGULATIONS

TUTORIAL NOTES

Introduction

The objective of most academic research is to establish principles, theories or laws which make general statements about the detailed subject matter under investigation. The principles of magnetism in physics and the laws of demand and supply in economics are good examples. These concise general statements may be applied to a wide range of practical problems and changing circumstances.

Accounting itself is a practical activity and the purpose of accounting theory is to examine the assumptions and ways of treatment which lie behind current accounting practice. Accounting theory seeks to make general statements about basic accounting concepts which are widely accepted by practitioners at a given time. The principles which constitute the "general rules" for financial reporting are termed "Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (GAAP)". Accounting principles are also referred to as Standards, Postulates, Concepts, etc.

Uses and Purpose of Accounting Information

The purpose of Financial Accounting systems is to provide information in qualitative form for both internal and external users of the accounts. It is therefore of paramount importance to know the information that is needed and to what uses the information will be put.

The extensive uses to which the information is put have necessitated the need for regulating its content and format. Therefore, in preparation of company accounts, there are a number of legal and pseudo-legal requirements. The legal requirements are contained in the Company and Allied Matters Act (1990 as amended to date) and specialized acts such as Banks and Other Financial Institutions Act, Insurance Act, etc. These Acts cover the general precautions as to the form of accounts, including the Balance Sheet, Profit and Loss Accounts, and other supplementary statements such as the directors', chairman's and auditors' reports.

Evolution of Accounting Standards

Apart from the Acts mentioned above, there are also regulatory statements known as accounting standards. These are statements and pronouncements made by accounting bodies of each country in relation to publish accounts.

Accounting Standards are developed to ensure high degree of standardization in published financial statements thereby giving more meaning and relevance to its contents for uniform acceptability.

The objectives of accounting standards therefore are:

- 1) To promote uniformity of accounting practices on important (material) issues
- 2) To promote greater disclosure of information in financial statements
- 3) To raise and uphold the standard of accounting reports
- 4) To promote the disclosure of deviations from normal accounting practices
- 5) To intensify the concepts which are generally accepted on which financial statements prepared are based.

Examples of Accounting Standards

Examples of Accounting Standards include (but not limited to):
