Didier Musso

Productivity Commission Report 2005:

Water Policy in Australia Lin Crase, 2011 In the last twenty years policy makers in Australia have been forced to acknowledge that it is not possible to perpetually supply more water at a low cost Consequently the country has begun to focus on water resource management through legislative and institutional change attempting to allocate water in a more economically efficient and socially and environmentally acceptable manner This book provides insight into the challenges of institutional change as well as valuable lessons on the design of property rights for complex resources Contributors from across disciplines address pertinent issues such as irrigation in the Murray Darling basin one of Australia's largest drainage divisions the progression from common law riparian rights to share based entitlements that encourage sustainable water use and the potential outcomes of the recent National Water Initiative a wide ranging strategy to improve water management and simultaneously maintain healthy groundwater and river systems

Electronically Monitored Punishment Mike Nellis, Kristel Beyens, Dan Kaminski, 2013-05-07 Electronic monitoring EM is a way of supervising offenders in the community whilst they are on bail serving a community sentence or after release from prison Various technologies can be used including voice verification GPS satellite tracking and most commonly the use of radio frequency to monitor house arrest It originated in the USA in the 1980s and has spread to over 30 countries since then This book explores the development of EM in a number of countries to give some indication of the diverse ways it has been utilized and of the complex politics which surrounds its use A techno utopian impulse underpins the origins of EM and has remained latent in its subsequent development elsewhere in the world despite recognition that it is less capable of effecting penal transformations than its champions have hoped This book devotes substantive chapters to the issues of privatisation evaluation offender perspectives and ethics Whilst normatively more committed to the Swedish model the book acknowledges that this may not represent the future of EM whose untrammelled commercially driven development could have very alarming consequences for criminal justice Both utopian and dystopian hopes have been invested in EM but research on its impact is ambivalent and fragmented and EM remains undertheorised empirically and ethically This book seeks to redress this by providing academics policy audiences and practitioners with the intellectual resources to understand and address the challenges which EM poses

Minding the Gap Peter Carroll, Chris Walker, Rex Deighton-Smith, Helen Silver, 2008-06-01 Mind the Gap is an almost iconic exhortation originating in the London Underground warning travellers to be careful when navigating the gap between the platform and train In this volume Peter Carroll Rex Deighton Smith Helen Silver and Chris Walker retrospectively assess the gap no less dynamic and perilous in a public policy context between the promise and performance of successive waves of regulation in Australia since the 1980s

Regulatory bodies exist to exercise what might be broadly termed control functions and by nature tend to be conservative both in their culture and operations Institutional conservatism does not of necessity preclude the exercise of creativity and foresight both of which are sorely required if government is to successfully meet the challenge of delivering more effective and less costly regulation The business and policy environment is complex the risks are great and the rewards of success and the costs of failure will be enormous The true measure of success will be how effectively we are able to close the gap between promise and performance Institutions for Economic Reform in Asia Philippa Dee,2009-12-16 Consisting of
