Musicians in the Making John Scott Rink, Helena Gaunt, Aaron Williamon, 2017 Musicians are continually in the making tapping into their own creative resources while deriving inspiration from teachers friends family members and listeners Amateur and professional performers alike tend not to follow fixed routes in developing a creative voice instead their artistic journeys are personal often without foreseeable goals The imperative to assess and reassess one's musical knowledge understanding and aspirations is nevertheless a central feature of life as a performer Musicians in the Making explores the creative development of musicians in both formal and informal learning contexts It promotes a novel view of creativity emphasizing its location within creative processes rather than understanding it as an innate quality It argues that such processes may be learned and refined and furthermore that collaboration and interaction within group contexts carry significant potential to inform and catalyze creative experiences and outcomes The book also traces and models the ways in which creative processes evolve over time Performers music teachers and researchers will find the rich body of material assembled here engaging and enlightening The book's three parts focus in turn on Creative learning in context Creative processes and Creative dialogue and reflection In addition to sixteen extended chapters written by leading experts in the field the volume includes ten Insights by internationally prominent performers performance teachers and others Practical aids include abstracts and lists of keywords at the start of each chapter which provide useful overviews and guidance on content Topics addressed by individual authors include intrapersonal and interpersonal dynamics performance experience practice and rehearsal self regulated performing improvisation self reflection expression interactions between performers and audiences assessment and the role of academic study in performers development
