Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen, 2018-08-12 In Inventing Authenticity Carrie Helms Tippen examines the rhetorical power of storytelling in cookbooks to fortify notions of southernness Tippen brings to the table her ongoing hunt for recipe cards and evaluates a wealth of cookbooks with titles like Y all Come Over and Bless Your Heart and famous cookbooks such as Sean Brock s Heritage and Edward Lee s Smoke and Pickles She examines her own southern history grounding it all in a thorough understanding of the relevant literature The result is a deft and entertaining dive into the territory of southern cuisine black eyed peas and cornbread fried chicken and fried okra pound cake and peach cobbler and a look at and beyond southern food tropes that reveals much about tradition identity and the yearning for authenticity Tippen discusses the act of cooking as a way to perform and therefore reinforce the identity associated with a recipe and the complexities inherent in attempts to portray the foodways of a region marked by a sometimes distasteful history Inventing Authenticity meets this challenge head on delving into problems of cultural appropriation and representations of race thorny questions about authorship and more The commonplace but deceptively complex southern cookbook can sustain our sense of where we come from and who we are or who we think we are Steal the Menu Raymond Sokolov, 2014-02-11 Part autobiography part culinary history Steal the Menu is former New York Times food editor Raymond Sokolov's account of four decades of eating From his pathbreaking dispatches on nouvelle cuisine in France to finding top notch Chinese dishes at a New Jersey gas station to picking the brain of the most Michelin starred chef in the world Sokolov captures the colorful characters and mouth watering meals that define food today Throughout he shares a lifetime of personal anecdotes including infuriating President Nixon's daughter over a wedding cake as well as prescient observations on one of the most tumultuous and exciting periods in gastronomic history
