Army Recipes United States. War Department,1946 The Best Stews in the World Clifford Wright,2012-02-28
Publication date from publisher website Recipes United States. Department of the Army,1950 100 Recipes America's Test Kitchen,2015-10-13 A provocative handpicked collection of relevant and surprising essential recipes for today's cook. We have countless recipes at our disposal today but what are the real keepers the ones that don't just feed us when we're hungry or impress our friends on Saturday night but inspire us to get into the kitchen. At the forefront of American cooking for more than 20 years the editors at America's Test Kitchen have answered this question in an essential collection of recipes that you won't find anywhere else. 100 Recipes Everyone Should Know How to Make. Organized into three recipe sections: Absolute Essentials, Surprising Essentials, and Global Essentials, each recipe is preceded by a thought-provoking essay that positions the dish. For example, Treating Pasta Like Rice Simplifies Everything, A Covered Pot Is a Surprisingly Good Place to Roast a Chicken, and Reimagine Pie in a Skillet to Simplify the Process. You'll find useful workday recipes like a killer tomato sauce that's almost as easy as opening a jar of the store-bought stuff, genius techniques for producing amazing flavor (try poaching chicken breasts over a garlic and soy-spiked brine), trust us, it's that good, and familiar favorites reinvigorated (the best beef stew comes from Spain and it's even easier to make than the stateside stew you've been eating for years). Gorgeous photography shot right in the test kitchen accompanies every recipe, revealing the finished dish as well as highlights of its preparation. Likely to stir debate among anyone interested in food and cooking, 100 Recipes Everyone Should Know How to Make provides a snapshot of how we cook today and will galvanize even the most jaded cook to get into the kitchen.

Food, Text and Culture in the Anglophone Caribbean

Sarah Lawson Welsh, 2019-07-02 How do diasporic writers negotiate their identities through and with food? What tensions emerge between the local and the global between the foodways of the past and of the present? How are concepts of culinary tradition and authenticity articulated in Caribbean cookery writing? Drawing on a rich and varied tradition of Caribbean writings, Food, Text, Culture in the Anglophone Caribbean shows how the creation of food and the creation of narrative are intimately linked cultural practices which can tell us much about each other. Historically, Caribbean writers have explored, defined and re-affirmed their different cultural, ethnic, caste, class and gender identities by writing about what, when and how they eat. Images of feeding, feasting, fasting and other food rituals and practices as articulated in a range of Caribbean writings constitute a powerful force of social cohesion and cultural continuity. Moreover, food is often central to the question of what it means to be Caribbean, especially in diasporic and globalized contexts. Suitable for undergraduates, postgraduates and scholars, the book offers the first study of food and writing in an Anglophone Caribbean context.
