Domesticating Vigilantism in Africa Thomas G. Kirsch, Tilo Grätz, 2010 An unprecedented overview of anthropological and political science research on vigilantism in Africa which makes an important and innovative contribution to current discussions on the relationship between violent self justice and state and non state agencies Self justice and legal self help groups have been gaining importance throughout Africa The question of who is entitled to formulate legal principles enact justice police morality and sanction wrongdoings has increasingly become a subject of controversy and conflict These conflicts focus on the strained relationship between state sovereignty and citizens self determination More particularly they concern the conditions modes and means of the legitimate execution of power and in this volume are seen as a diagnostics as to how social actors in Africa debate and practise socio political order State agencies try to bring vigilante groups under control by channelling their activities repressing them or using them for their own interests Vigilante groups usually must struggle for recognition and acceptance in local socio political spheres As several of the contributions in the volume show legal self help groups in Africa therefore domesticate themselves by among other things seeking legitimation engaging in publicly acceptable non vigilante activities or institutionalizing what often began as a rather unrestrained and disorderly social movement Thomas G Kirsch is Professor Tilo Grätz is Senior Research Fellow at the University of Hamburg Germany Associate Lecturer at the University of Halle Wittenberg

Seduction of Ethics Will C. van den Hoonaard, 2011-06-13 Formal research ethics committees in Canada now function as an industry costing over thirty five million dollars annually The Seduction of Ethics argues that while ethics codes are alluring to the public they fuel moral panic and increase demands for institutional accountability Will C van den Hoonaard explores the research ethics review process itself by analysing the moral cosmology and practices of ethics committees regarding research and researchers The Seduction of Ethics also investigates how researchers have tailored their approaches in response to technical demands leading social science disciplines to resemble each other more closely and lose the richness of their research Van den Hoonaard reveals an idiosyncratic and inconsistent world in which researchers employ particular strategies of avoidance or partial or full compliance as they seek approval from ethics committees Traffic Digest and Review ,1969 The Bureaucratic Production of Difference Julia M.
