Objective

This program is for understanding the concept of a pro rata debt and how it is used in business operations.

Directions

Use this program to understand the concept of a pro rata debt and how it is used in business operations.

Pro Rata Debts

Pro rata debts are debts that are shared equally among all the creditors of a company. For example, if a company has a debt of $100,000 and there are 100 creditors, each creditor would be responsible for paying $1,000. Pro rata debts are used to ensure that all creditors are treated equally and that the company's debt is distributed fairly among all the creditors.

1. Scenario 1: A company has a debt of $100,000 and there are 100 creditors. Each creditor is responsible for paying $1,000.
