Handbook of Research on Entrepreneurship in Professional Services Markus Reihlen, Andreas Werr, 2012-01-01

Professional service firms are critical agents of contemporary economies and understanding them has become a central focus of recent scholarship. This very timely and well organized Handbook brings together several leading scholars who explore how we might think and theorize about professional service firms and their entrepreneurial behaviours. The Handbook will become a key source for the growing community of researchers in this area. Royston Greenwood University of Alberta Canada. For too long both researchers and practitioners have presumed that professional service firms follow the status quo when they should better understand how these professionals set the rules for globalization. This Handbook reminds us that professionals are as much the shock troops of capitalism as the multinational corporations that they serve. As this Handbook shows, the leading firms successfully compete with each other by fostering entrepreneurship and innovation in order to service an institutional system that undergirds the international economy. Christopher McKenna University of Oxford UK. Professional services are increasingly seen as an important foundation for future economic growth and prosperity. Yet research on innovative and entrepreneurial processes in professional services has been surprisingly scarce. This Handbook provides a collection of original contributions from leading scholars outlining the current stock of knowledge in the area as well as providing directions for further research. The expert contributors discuss entrepreneurship and innovation from a number of different perspectives including the entrepreneurial professional team, the entrepreneurial firm, and the institutional environment. The first part of the book looks at the challenges of entrepreneurship specific to the professional service firm, while the second explores the creation and exploitation of entrepreneurial opportunities in the professional service team. Part III turns to the organization and Part IV to the management and growth of the entrepreneurial professional service firm. The final part discusses the interplay between professions, firms, and the institutional environment. Researchers, scholars, and PhD students in the areas of entrepreneurship and professional service firms, along with advanced students of management, will find this volume of great value.

Where Parallels Intersect Eli Cohen, California. Court of Appeal (1st Appellate District). Records and Briefs California (State)., Web-Based Education in the Human Services Richard Schoech, Brenda Moore, Robert James Macfadden, Marilyn Herie, 2014-02-25. A much needed look at innovative and effective methods for creating virtual learning environments for human services. Web Based Education in the Human Services reflects the vitality and diversity of Web based courses currently delivered within human services. Unlike previous texts that have combined technologies such as Interactive Television (ITV) and two way audio where Web involvement was minimal, this unique book focuses on Web based models, tools, and techniques used in courses where the majority of the content is delivered online. The book's contributors emphasize the social aspects of learning, examining topical areas not usually associated with Web based education as they remind us of the need to move beyond the similarities between WBE and face to face FTF approaches Web Based Education in the Human Services documents a course delivery method coming of age in its desire to create virtual learning environments that incorporate a variety of techniques and strategies These environments use concepts and tools beyond what packages such as WebCT currently offer highlighting the power of designing a complete Web based curriculum rather than viewing each course separately Many of the most successful approaches presented in this invaluable book don t involve sophisticated tools or programming but the creative design of interactive scenarios emotional content and feedback mechanisms that reinforce the instructor s role as the crucial ingredient for success Web Based Education in the Human Services examines adult learning theories teaching practice skills through Web based technology how to bridge the gap between theory and practice faculty perceptions of the effectiveness of Web based instruction compared to face to face instruction the accessibility of Web based education the significance of emotion in learning Web based delivery of a graduate professional training program the creation delivery and evaluation of a pilot course using Blackboard 6 the development of a Web based undergraduate child welfare course the use of Web based video clips for counselor skills training the design development pilot and revision of a Web based social work practice course an online format for agency based field instruction the design of a Web based graduate program in counseling psychology and much more Web Based Education in the Human Services is an invaluable resource for social work and human services educators including education nursing and psychology Web course developers and college and university administrators

Handbook of University-wide Entrepreneurship Education G. Page West, Elizabeth J. Gatewood, Kelly G. Shaver, 2009-01-01 this Handbook is inspiring It is designed to assist educators in developing new programmes and pedagogical approaches based upon the previous experiences of others who have forged this exciting new path I recommend it highly for the inspired as well as for the disillusioned entrepreneurship educator Howard H Frederick Journal of Educational Administration and History This Handbook explores the current state of university wide entrepreneurship education programs and provides a comprehensive reference guide for the planning and implementation of an entrepreneurship curriculum beyond the business school environment A variety of authors spanning five countries and multiple disciplines discuss the opportunities and universal challenges in extending entrepreneurship education to the sciences performing arts social sciences humanities and liberal arts environments The Handbook is designed to assist educators in developing new programs and pedagogical approaches based upon the previous experiences of others who have forged this exciting new path Sections of the Handbook are devoted to philosophies and theory that provide a legitimate intellectual foundation for the fusion of entrepreneurship education with other traditional disciplines of the university the politics and process of implementing entrepreneurship initiatives outside business schools and examples of approaches to implementing entrepreneurship education outside business schools The book identifies expected problems and solutions for new entrepreneurship curriculum development It offers theory on education pedagogy that is critical to addressing concerns of non business educators and provides examples of successful efforts in a variety of non business departments Entrepreneurship faculty across disciplines and graduate students seeking ways to broaden involvement in entrepreneurship curriculum will find this volume invaluable as will school administrators both in business and in the arts and sciences

Taking eService-Learning to the Next Level Jean R. Strait, Robert D. Shumer, Katherine J. Nordyke, 2023-08-01

The chapters in this book provide an excellent story of the growth of e learning and eService learning over the past many years. Strait takes us from the first chapter examining current issues and considerations for eService Learning to a second chapter that documents the growth and maturation of a program at Missouri State University to chapters that introduce critical e service learning with a social justice orientation. Gordon and Jackson Brown and chapters that address international experiences. Ong Tan et al and Dietrich and Ekici that involve eService learning in Singapore and long distance relationships between the U S and Afghanistan to illustrate the multiplicity and diversity of current models of service and learning that occur through electronic means. The importance of the book and its chapters is that change happens. What was occurring in the early 21st century was altered by situations such as the global pandemic of COVID 19 to increase the reliance on e educational systems and promote the increased use of electronic educational programs that covered almost all areas of educational systems. While early mobile phones existed in the 1970s, Teixeira T 2010 they evolved and more sophisticated versions were produced throughout the 20th century. By the end of the century, phones that could easily transmit emails were developed and then came camera phones and then smart phones by 2003. And phone communication has continued to change, existing today as a total communication device used by people all over the world. Similarly, video and visual systems have evolved and continue to change. Zoom was developed in 2011 and has continued to evolve and expand services all over the world. People are now able to visually and orally communicate with others on every continent 24 hours a day and the complexity and utility of communication has similarly expanded. Now phones can instantaneously translate between languages and people in all parts of the world can share experiences and visual products without barriers of language, country or time. Indeed, the electronic world is an amazing entity and continues to evolve each year. So what are the implications of all these changes for education and service? Simply put, they are and will continue to evolve to more complex and more useful forms for all communication and interaction. And this current volume gives us much insight into the important areas of change in both e learning and eService learning. All the chapters add great insight and information about important issues in the field and highlight some of the critical concepts embedded in its development.
