essentially plateaued amid lower economic growth and the impacts of COVID 19 and other crises Today extreme poverty is concentrated mostly in Sub Saharan Africa and fragile settings At a higher standard more typical of upper middle income countries US 6 85 per person per day almost one half of the world is living in poverty The report also provides evidence that the number of countries that have high levels of income inequality has declined considerably during the past two decades but the pace of improvements in shared prosperity has slowed and that inequality remains high in Latin America and the Caribbean and Sub Saharan Africa Worldwide people's incomes today would need to increase fivefold on average to reach a minimum prosperity threshold of US 25 per person per day Where there has been progress in poverty reduction and shared prosperity there is evidence of an increasing ability of countries to manage natural hazards but climate risks are significantly higher in the poorest settings Nearly one in five people globally is at risk of experiencing welfare losses due to an extreme weather event from which they will struggle to recover The interconnected issues of climate change and poverty call for a united and inclusive effort from the global community Development cooperation stakeholders from governments nongovernmental organizations and the private sector to communities and citizens acting locally in every corner of the globe hold pivotal roles in promoting fair and sustainable transitions By emphasizing strategies that yield multiple benefits and diligently monitoring and addressing trade offs we can strive toward a future that is prosperous equitable and resilient

Gary Bland, Peter Vaz, 2017-04-17 This article examines the sustainability of the subnational business environment index BEIs as a development tool for subnational promotion of private sector growth and competitiveness We define sustainability as the BEI's continued application after its external support has been concluded The 13 BEIs examined here have been largely financed by international aid agencies over the past decade We compare the main features of all the current or recent subnational BEIs we could locate covering countries in Asia Eastern Europe and Latin America We discuss their origins financing conceptual approaches methodological parameters intergovernmental linkages and longevity A few of them have been applied repeatedly as intended by index proponents but nearly half of the indices have been discontinued Two are eminently sustainable and another appears to be The apparently successful index in El Salvador is highlighted We conclude that indices face serious limitations including politicization weak business sector interest lack of local funding and need for an impartial sponsor Yet indices do show some promise for reform where the index is well developed and where conditions that appear favorable to their successful utilization apply that is in countries with a strong private sector governmental interest and an open economy

Poison Ivy Evan Mandery, 2025-03-18 Hailed as a staggering portrait of inequality in America Philip Dray Poison Ivy tells the bigger seedier story of how elite colleges create paths to admission available only to the wealthy despite rhetoric to the contrary In a lively and trenchant Washington Monthly account Evan Mandery a Harvard graduate and current professor at a public college that serves low and middle income students reveals how tacit agreements between exclusive Ivy plus schools and white affluent suburbs create widespread de facto segregation And as a college degree continues to be the surest route to upward mobility the inequality bred in our broken higher education system is now a principal driver of skyrocketing income inequality Mandery contrasts the lip service paid to opportunity by so many elite colleges and universities with schools that actually walk the walk Now in an accessible paperback format Poison Ivy is a no holds barred takedown Forbes that synthesizes fascinating insider information on everything from how students are evaluated unfair tax breaks and questionable fundraising practices to suburban rituals testing tutoring tuition schemes and more This bold provocative indictment of America s elite colleges shows us exactly what s at stake and what will be possible if we muster the collective will to transform it
