Northern Nigeria Criminal Procedure Code:

The Criminal Procedure Code of Northern Nigeria Sam Scruton Richardson, Tom Hitchon Williams, 1963 Islamic Criminal Law in Northern Nigeria Gunnar J. Weimann, 2010 Annotation In 2000 and 2001 twelve northern states of the Federal Republic of Nigeria introduced Islamic criminal law as one of a number of measures aiming at reintroducing the shari'a. Immediately after its adoption defendants were sentenced to death by stoning or to amputation of the hand. Apart from a few well publicised trials however the number and nature of cases tried under Islamic criminal law are little known. Based on a sample of trials the present thesis discusses the introduction of Islamic criminal law and the evolution of judicial practice within the regions historical cultural political and religious context. The introduction of Islamic criminal law was initiated by politicians and supported by Muslim reform groups but its potential effects were soon mitigated on higher judicial levels and aspects of the law were contained by local administrators. This title can be previewed in Google Books <http://books.google.com/books/v?id=ISBN9789056296551> Criminal Procedure in the Northern States of Nigeria Jeffrey Richard Jones, 1979 Criminal Justice Responses to the Boko Haram Crisis in Nigeria Victoria Ojo-Adewuyi, 2024-01-01. This book concentrates on the crisis perpetrated by the Boko Haram group in Nigeria which since 2009 has made a definitive impact on both the domestic and international criminal landscape. The volume centres on three core issues: first an assessment of the criminal legal responses at the domestic level where the legal characterization of the conducts in question including an evaluation of the state of specific domestic prosecutions are assessed. Secondly the book gauges the potential for international criminal justice while evaluating the Boko Haram situation at the International Criminal Court. This includes an assessment of the jurisdictional aspects, the admissibility and the interests of justice requirements in addition to the appraisal of conducts amounting to war crimes and crimes against humanity perpetrated. Finally the book explores possible non-prosecutorial responses in the form of classic and non classic transitional justice mechanisms that maybe utilized as a response to the crisis in Nigeria. Furthermore it draws instructive lessons from Nigeria's past misadventure with specific transitional justice mechanisms while exploring the realities of utilizing the restorative justice mechanisms available in Nigeria. The volume concludes by calling for a victim centred approach in the discourse around the Boko Haram crisis. This book presents a definitive study of the history of the development of Boko Haram and the related domestic and international criminal legal issues. Researchers and anyone seeking to understand the Boko Haram crisis in relation to international criminal law including those looking for a clear overview of the criminal conduct perpetrated by Boko Haram in Nigeria and a view of Nigeria's domestic legal regime will benefit from the information on offer. Victoria Ojo-Adewuyi is a lawyer called to the Nigeria Bar in 2012. She obtained a Bachelor of Laws degree LL B in 2011 from the Obafemi Awolowo University Ile-Ife, Nigeria. She obtained a Master of Laws Degree LL M from the University of the Western Cape, Cape Town, South Africa and Humboldt University in Berlin under the South African German Centre for Transnational Criminal Justice in 2016 and completed her doctorate in International Criminal Law at the Humboldt University zu Berlin Germany in 2022 Sharia Implementation in Northern Nigeria 1999-2006: The Sharia penal and criminal procedure codes Philip Ostien, 2007

Domestic Legal Pluralism and the International Criminal Court Justin Su-Wan Yang, 2021-09-20 This book explores how the unique historical development of Islamic Shari'a criminal law alongside English common law in northern Nigeria has created a hybridised criminal legal system through a pluralist dynamic of mutual accommodation. It studies how this system may potentially be accommodated by the International Criminal Court. The work examines how this could be accommodated through the current understanding and operation of complementarity and that it could ultimately prove to be preferable in encouraging the Shari'a courts to exercise criminal justice over the radical insurgents in northern Nigeria. These courts would have the unprecedented ability to combine binding adjudicative judgments together with religious interpretation and guidance which can directly combat the predominantly unchallenged domain of ideology by extremist actors. It is submitted that these pluralist perspectives are timely and welcome given the undeniably Western European foundations of modern International Criminal Law. In exploring such potential avenues our shared understanding of modern international criminal justice is widened to necessarily include other stakeholders beyond its Western founders. It is the aim and hope that such interactions and engagements with non-Western traditions and cultures will lead to a greater shared ownership of the international criminal justice project which will only strengthen the global fight against impunity. The book will be essential reading for academics, researchers and policy makers working in the areas of International Criminal Law, Legal Pluralism, Islamic Shari'a Law, Nigeria and religiously inspired violence. The International Criminal Court and Africa Charles Chernor Jalloh, Ilias Bantekas, 2017-10-06 Africa has been at the forefront of contemporary global efforts towards ensuring greater accountability for international crimes. But the continent's early embrace of international criminal justice seems to be taking a new turn with the recent resistance from some African states claiming that the emerging system of international criminal law represents a new form of imperialism masquerading as international rule of law. This book analyses the relationship and tensions between the International Criminal Court (ICC) and Africa. It traces the origins of the confrontation between African governments both acting individually and within the framework of the African Union and the permanent Hague-based ICC. Leading commentators offer valuable insights on the core legal and political issues that have confused the relationship between the two sides and expose the uneasy interaction between international law and international politics. They offer suggestions on how best to continue the fight against impunity using national ICC and regional justice mechanisms while taking into principled account the views and interests of African States. Criminal Law in the Northern States of Nigeria E. H. Ofori-Amankwah, 1986 African Penal Systems Alan Milner, 2024-07-31 First published in 1969 African Penal Systems is the first book to explore the problems of African criminology. Sixteen distinguished contributors, sociologists, lawyers and psychiatrists, each an authority on some aspect of African penal problems, have collaborated to produce it Its first part gives a general survey of the penal systems of some fourteen African countries variously English French or Portuguese inclined or wholly autochthonous Part two includes six specialist contributions on various detailed problems in the development and operation of the modern African systems In his introduction Alan Milner describes the sociological forces responsible for the increase of crime in Africa and examines the possibility of the growth of a peculiarly African approach to the solution of its penal problems This is a must read for scholars and researchers African Studies criminology and African Law

Gender Justice in Islamic Law Musa Usman Abubakar, 2018-06-14 This book seeks to interrogate the classical fiqh formulation on gender and homicide with a view to exploring further the debate on whether the so called gender injustice in Islamic law is a human creation or attributable to the divine sources of the Qur an and Sunnah The study is in response to the increasing criticism of the Islamic criminal law regime and the accusation that it discriminates on the basis of gender It argues that any attempt to critique a religious question through the lens of traditional Western human rights ideals would be resisted by the vast majority of Muslims An examination of the question and any suggested solutions offered would be much more effective if situated within the system they identify with that is to address the question of gender justice deficit from within the Islamic legal tradition Focusing on Nigeria and Pakistan the book achieves this by drawing on classical fiqh literature contemporary literature legislative sources and relevant case law

The Institution Builder's Toolbox Jeswald W. Salacuse, 2024-05-13 So You Wanna Build an Institution Both our work and private lives require us to build new institutions or renovate old ones from launching a business in your home to creating a new corporate division at work from establishing a local charter school to organizing an athletic club with friends Drawing on his remarkable six decade career of building institutions around the world Jeswald W Salacuse has written a book to guide you skillfully through the challenges of institution building from articulating the institutional vision to securing the resources to make it happen The Institution Builder's Toolbox Moves for Negotiating Change expertly advises readers on how to negotiate each of the seven developmental phases necessary to build a robust institution Nigeria's Fourth Republic, 1999-2021 Michael Nwankpa, 2022-11-18 This book reflects on Nigeria's fourth republic the country's longest democratic period since it gained independence from Great Britain It argues that although constitutional or political democracy has lasted for over two decades in Nigeria and seen three successful democratic changes of power Nigeria's democracy remains largely militarised During Nigeria's fourth republic political and socio economic affairs have been increasingly dominated by a pervasive military presence and ideology which has seen a redistribution of resources and government funds away from social programmes into an increase in security budgets weapons proliferation and internal military interventions and occupations This institutionalisation of violence has turned the country into a national security state where the rule of force and violence rather than dialogue and compassion reflect everyday reality Whilst acknowledging the history of militarisation during colonial and military rule this book makes a compelling argument for considering the distinct character of the Nigerian nation state s path to militarisation over the last 20 years of experimentation with democracy This book s fresh insights into the fourth republic s path to militarisation will be of interest to researchers of African politics security and development Valley of Decisions Iorhemen Hwande,2012-12-19 In a tribute to Hon Justice Iorhemen Hwande CFR Chief Judge of Benue State this book includes contributions from a variety of scholars from Nigeria 14 essays cover a wide range of topics such as Insider Dealing by Company Directors and the Nigerian Capital Market United Nations Conventions on the Law of the Sea as a Tool for the Resolution of Climate Change Disputes Is a Practicing Christian Lawyer Judge in Nigeria an Anachronism The Justiciability and Enforcement of Social Rights and International Economic Law and Development

Contractual Obligations in Ghana and Nigeria U. U. Uche,2014-04-23 First Published in 1971 This study is a comparative investigation of contractual obligations in Ghana and Nigeria It has often been suggested that the law of civil responsibility in West Africa is the same as the current English law position on the subject This book sets out to examine the basis of this assumption an exercise which has never been attempted by any previous writer in West African law The study has been divided into five major parts Global Minority Rights Joshua Castellino,2017-05-15 This important volume brings together a range of material in different areas of law and the social sciences that address questions concerning the rights of minorities The discipline is arguably one of the oldest branches of public international law and owes its heritage to those who struggled to create standards to protect the numerically inferior and non dominant communities from the excesses of the majority While reflecting this rich heritage the works contained in this volume show the extent to which policy constructs especially in law have begun to pay heed to the need to include minorities in different domestic settings across the globe To provide readers with a structured approach to understanding global minority rights law the editor divides the issues into six main headings namely Historical Development Conceptual Development Contemporary Challenges Fundamental Norms of Minority Protection Specific Rights of Minorities Human Rights and Minority Rights Criminal Procedure Code, CAP. 30 Northern Nigeria (Nigeria),1965
