November 2013 Agricultural Science Paper With Memo:

Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa Renu Modi, Fantu Cheru, 2013-08-08 The subject of food security and land issues in Africa has become one of increased importance and contention over recent years. In particular, the focus has shifted to the role new global South donors especially India, China and Brazil are playing in shaping African agriculture through their increased involvement and investment in the continent. Approaching the topic through the framework of South-South co-operation, this highly original volume presents a critical analysis of the ways in which Chinese, Indian and Brazilian engagements in African agriculture are structured and implemented. Do these investments have the potential to create new opportunities to improve local living standards, transfer new technology and knowhow to African producers and reverse the persistent productivity decline in African agriculture? Or will they simply aggravate the problem of food insecurity by accelerating the process of land alienation and displacement of local people from their land? Topical and comprehensive Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa offers fresh insight into a set of relationships that will shape both Africa and the world over the coming decades. 2013 Global Food Policy Report Fan, Shenggen, Polman, Paul, Kishore, Avinash, Joshi, Pramod Kumar, Hoddinott, John F., Ringler, Claudia, Cenacchi, Nicola, Koo, Jawoo, Robertson, Richard, Fisher, Myles, Cox, Cindy, Perez, Nicostrato, Garrett, Karen, Rosegrant, Mark W., Beintema, Nienke, Stads, Gert-Jan, Torero, Maximo, Gillespie, Stuart, Badiane, Ousmane, Makombe, Tsitsi, Collins, Julia, Breisinger, Clemens, Al-Riffai, Perrihan, Ecker, Olivier, Saade, Maurice, Akramov, Kamiljon, Cohen-Cline, Noah, Chen, Kevin, Timmer, Peter, Díaz-Bonilla, Eugenio, 2014-03-12 This 2013 Global Food Policy Report is the third in an annual series that provides an in-depth look at major food policy developments and events. Initiated in response to resurgent interest in food and nutrition security, the series offers a yearly overview of the food policy developments that have contributed to or hindered progress in achieving food and nutrition security. It reviews what happened in food policy and why, examines key challenges and opportunities, shares new evidence and knowledge and highlights emerging issues.

Risk Regulation in the Internal Market Maria Weimer, 2019-03-13 This book offers a topical inquiry into the legal and political limits of EU regulation in the field of risk and new technologies surrounded by techno-scientific complexity, uncertainty and societal contestation. It uses agricultural biotechnology as a paradigmatic example to illustrate the complex intertwinement between environmental, public health, economic and social concerns in risk regulation. Weimer analyses the drawbacks of the EU approach to agricultural biotechnology, showing that its reductionism, i.e. the narrow understanding of GMO risks as well as the exclusion of broader societal concerns related to environmental and social sustainability, has undermined both the legitimacy and effectiveness of EU regulation in this area. Resistance to this approach, however, has also triggered legal innovations prompting us to re-think EU internal market law, including the way in which it manages the tensions between unity and diversity and between social and economic concerns. This text offers fresh and original insights into how far the EU can go in harmonizing regulatory approaches to risk At the same time it proposes new ways of re thinking EU risk regulation to make it more responsive to different perspectives on risk and technology A unique feature of this book is that it contributes to various strains of scholarship including risk regulation internal market law public administration and studies of governance and regulation as well as connecting these themes to broader debates about the legitimacy of European integration and new ways of differentiated integration As a result it assists in re imagining the EU internal market and its regulation as a site of diversity

Regional Developments Badiane, Ousmane, Makombe, Tsitsi, Collins, Julia, Breisinger, Clemens, Al-Riffai, Perrihan, Ecker, Olivier, Saade, Maurice, Akramov, Kamiljon T., Cohen-Cline, Noah, Joshi, Pramod Kumar, Kishore, Avinash, Díaz-Bonilla, Eugenio, Torero, Máximo, This 2013 Global Food Policy Report is the third in an annual series that provides an in depth look at major food policy developments and events Initiated in response to resurgent interest in food and nutrition security the series offers a yearly overview of the food policy developments that have contributed to or hindered progress in achieving food and nutrition security It reviews what happened in food policy and why examines key challenges and opportunities shares new evidence and knowledge and highlights emerging issues

Global Agriculture and the American Farmer Kimberly Ann Elliott, 2017-06-27 The United States is one of the world s largest producers and exporters of a range of agricultural commodities and the largest provider of foreign assistance so U S policies have big effects on global food security and other global public goods linked to agriculture On the positive side of the ledger President Obama created the Feed the Future aid initiative to promote agricultural development in poorer countries as a tool to achieve the global goals of ending hunger and extreme poverty which are mostly rural But that generosity is undercut by U S support for farmers that distorts global markets and ignores negative spillovers for the rest of the world In this book Elliott focuses on three policy areas that are particularly damaging for developing countries traditional agricultural subsidy and trade policies that support the incomes of American farmers at the expense of farmers elsewhere the biofuels mandate which in its current form increases market volatility while doing little if anything to mitigate climate change and weak regulation of antibiotic use in livestock which contributes to the global spread of drug resistant super bugs While noting that broad reforms are needed to fix these problems Elliott also identifies practical steps that U S policymakers could take in the relatively short run to improve farm policies for American taxpayers and consumers as well as for the poor and vulnerable in developing countries

Brazil's Emerging Role in Global Governance M. Fraundorfer, 2015-02-11 The author examines Brazil s emerging role as an important actor in various sectors of global governance By exploring how Brazil s exercise of power developed over the last decade in the sectors of health food security and bioenergy this book sheds light on the power strategies of an emerging country from the global south

Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa Brett Bennett, Fred Kruger, 2015-11-11 This innovative interdisciplinary study focuses on the history science and policy of tree planting and water conservation in South Africa South Africa s forestry sector has sat often controversially at the crossroads of policy and scientific debates regarding water conservation economic development and biodiversity protection Bennett and Kruger show how debates about the hydrological impact of exotic tree planting in South Africa shaped the development of modern scientific ideas and state policies relating to timber plantations water conservation invasive species control and biodiversity management within South Africa as well as elsewhere in the world Forestry and Water Conservation in South Africa shows how scientific research on the impact of exotic and native vegetation led to the development of a comprehensive national policy for conserving water producing timber and protecting indigenous species from invasive alien plants Policies and laws relating to forests and water began to change in the late 1980s and early 1990s as a result of political and administrative changes within South Africa This book suggests that the country s contemporary policies towards timber plantations guided by the National Water Act of 1998 need to be reconsidered in light of the authors findings Bennett and Kruger also call for more interdisciplinary research and greater emphasis on integrated policies and management plans for forestry invasive alien plants water conservation and biodiversity preservation

Environmental Water Markets and Regulation Katherine Owens, 2016-11-18 River systems around the world are degraded and are being used unsustainably Meeting this challenge requires the development of flexible regimes that have the potential to meet essential consumptive needs while restoring environmental flows This book focuses on how water trading frameworks can be repurposed for environmental water recovery and aims to conceptualise the most appropriate role for law in supporting recovery through these frameworks The author presents a comprehensive study of the legal frameworks in four jurisdictions the States of Oregon and Colorado in the western United States the province of Alberta in Canada and the Murray Darling Basin in Australia Basin State of New South Wales A close comparative analysis of these four jurisdictions reveals a variety of distinctive regulatory arrangements and collaborations between public and private actors In all cases the law has been deployed to steer and coordinate these water governance activities The book argues that each regime is based on a particular regulatory strategy with different conceptions of the appropriate roles for and relationships between various actors and institutions Legal frameworks do not have the capacity to rationalise and provide an overarching and absolute solution to the complex environmental and governance issues that arise in the context of environmental water transactions Rather the role of law in this context needs to be reconceptualised within the paradigm of regulatory capitalism as establishing and maintaining the limits within which regulatory participants can operate innovate and collaborate

The West and the Birth of Bangladesh Richard Pilkington, 2021-08-15 In 1971 authorities in Islamabad perpetrated mass atrocities in East Pakistan in an attempt to thwart a struggle for autonomy by terrorizing the local population into submission The West and the Birth of Bangladesh explores the decision making processes and ethical debates in Washington Ottawa and London during the crucial first few months of the crisis US president Richard Nixon and his national security advisor Henry Kissinger favoured appeasement of Islamabad The Canadian government was unwilling to hazard bilateral ties with Pakistan Under public pressure only the UK showed somewhat greater willingness to coerce Islamabad into ending its oppressive actions Richard Pilkington analyzes the interplay of US Canadian and British responses toward East Pakistan and the available policy options This insightful book reveals how even as human rights movements began to emerge in the West blinkered government actors there remained too preoccupied with protecting national interests to take firm action during the crisis

Multilingual Information Management Ximo Granell, 2014-12-09 Multilingual information is in high demand in today's globalised economy. Industry and market globalisation intensified collaboration between European countries; technological developments, the advent and consolidation of the Internet, the rise of electronic business, and the increased use of electronic documents are some of the factors that have fuelled this need. Multilingual Information Management draws on previous empirical research to explore how information and technologies are used within the community of translators as information facilitators among different languages and cultures to help them become more productive and competitive in today's market. The book consists of three parts including a literature review on information and technology needs among translators, a research framework to investigate the perceptions and use of information and technology within their working environment, and a strategic proposal for an Information Systems approach to multilingual information professionals and information literacy training. Presents an interdisciplinary approach to multilingual information and technology management among information professionals. Analyses the community of practice of translators as multilingual information facilitators and ICT users. Contributes to further develop Information Literacy to a strategic level among information professionals. Provides a methodological contribution through an evidence-based approach to practice. Bridges the gap between the information-related disciplines of Information Science, Business Management, and Translation Studies.

Civic Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements. This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents, interviews, and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013, together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements. It provides a US-UK comparative context, significantly updating earlier comparisons of American, British, and European farm and rural policies. The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions, capacity building for smaller organizations, and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural farming, food, and health interests. In contrast, narrowly defined single-issue campaigns often undermined long-term policy change, even if short-term wins emerged. By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders, policymakers, and funders, the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences.

Rebuilding resilient and sustainable agriculture in Somalia (Full report) Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-11-02 This report documents the pressures on Somalia's livestock and crop subsectors over the years but notes that there is a cause for optimism thanks to the country's resilience and resources. These include a variety of agroecological zones and vast tracts of arable land and areas suitable for livestock production, which in turn can support markets, export trade, and overall growth.
