Impact Assessment and Project Appraisal ,2002 Libby, Montana Andrea Peacock,2003 A sequel to Civil Action W R Grace company owners of a vermiculite mine in that small Montana town never told the miners what it knew there was asbestos in the vermiculite and the asbestos was destroying the miners lungs Mixed Methods for Policy Research and Program Evaluation Patricia Burch,Carolyn J. Heinrich,2015-02-18 Mixed Methods for Policy Research and Program Evaluation by Patricia Burch and Carolyn J Heinrich equips students researchers and policymakers in the social sciences with the tools they need for applying mixed methods in policy research and program evaluation from design through data collection and dissemination Emphasizing the how to the set of conceptual and active tasks carried out by mixed methods researchers the book is illustrated with rich case studies from the authors own research projects in education and public policy These examples help readers identify and explain policy and program impacts and better understand the why and how of observed effects Throughout the book the authors describe challenges that both beginners and advanced scholars are likely to encounter when doing mixed methods research and recommend practical tools available to address them

Assessing Meaning Making and Self-Authorship: Theory, Research, and Application Marcia B. Baxter Magolda,Patricia M. King,2012-09-27 One reason so many students fail to achieve complex learning goals may be that they rely too heavily on others opinions about what to believe who to be and how to relate to others The meaning making capacity of self authorship provides a basis from which to understand and learn from one s experiences without this students are at a loss to know how to make intentional choices about what to believe and how to act Similarly without a means to access and assess students meaning making researchers are at a disadvantage in deciding how to interpret students academic performance and other behaviors and educators are at a disadvantage in translating findings into the design of new programs and services This monograph is for those who are interested in understanding self authorship and its assessment and in using this approach in their own work Drawing from well established theories and extensive longitudinal research including nearly two thousand interviews it offers a detailed account of how young adults capacities become more complex and adaptive over time Those who understand the role of meaning making will be better able to document its effects on educational outcomes and provide better information to decision makers about program effectiveness Each monograph in the series is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education problem based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication Bibliography of Reports on Data Acquisition

, 1986 I, Too, Am America Theresa A. Singleton, 1999 The moral mission archaeology set in motion by black activists in the 1960s and 1970s sought to tell the story of Americans particularly African Americans forgotten by the written record Today the archaeological study of African American life is no longer simply an effort to capture unrecorded aspects of black history or to exhume the heritage of a neglected community Archaeologists now recognize that one cannot fully comprehend the European colonial experience in the Americas without understanding its African counterpart This collection of essays reflects and extends the broad spectrum of scholarship arising from this expanded definition of African American archaeology treating such issues as the analysis and representation of cultural identity race gender and class cultural interaction and change relations of power and domination and the sociopolitics of archaeological practice I Too Am America expands African American archaeology into an inclusive historical vision and identifies promising areas for future study
