Statistical Tragedy in Africa? Morten Jerven, Deborah Johnston, 2017-10-02 What do we know about economic development in Africa The answer is that we know much less than we would like to think This collection assesses the knowledge problem present in statistics on poverty agriculture labour education health and economic growth While diverse in origin the contributors to this book are unified in two conclusions the quality and quantity of data needs to be improved and this is a concern not just for statisticians Weaknesses in statistical methodology and practice can misinform policy makers international agencies donors the private sector and the citizens of African countries themselves This is also a problem for academics from various disciplines from history and economics to social epidemiology and education policy Not only does academic work on Africa regularly use flawed data but many problems encountered in surveys challenge common academic abstractions By exploring these flaws this book will provide a guide for scholars policy makers and all those using and commissioning surveys in Africa This book was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of Development Studies

New Millennium Woes and Livelihood Struggles in Africa Peter Thomas, Ngonidzashe Marongwe, 2021-05-19 One of the oldest survival pursuits undertaken by the weak and the downtrodden people across the world has been begging Going back to the ancient Christian biblical times up to the present epoch as well as across varying spatial settings in situations of trouble and tribulations parts of various communities have resorted to beggary to either overcome immediate adversities or longer term calamities Drawing on insights from two polar theoretical lenses of Social Constructionism and Social Deconstructionism and guided by a pithy study of the begging across the African continent especially by Zimbabweans this book troubles the various contours related to the subject of begging Inter alia the book considers the concept of begging the causes of the prevalence of begging across the world and particularly among Zimbabweans the challenges and benefits associated with the pursuit of alms the impact of begging in foreign lands as well as some of the strategies that beggars employ to maximize their collections and or profits What can be discerned from the book is that for many begging is one of the last resort undertakings with low pickings However from a utilitarian perspective begging has helped to sustain the impoverished livelihoods of Zimbabweans both inside and outside the borders of the country since the advent of a debilitating crisis experienced from the turn of the new millennium On the whole this book seeks to provoke further researches on an important socio economic area that affects many African communities but has so far been scantily researched The book is handy for students and practitioners in economic history African studies economics risk and disaster management social anthropology political science and development studies

Disaster Studies Janki Andharia,2020-03-25 This book covers several dimensions of disaster studies as an emerging discipline It is the inaugural book in the series Disaster Studies and Management and deals with questions such as Is disaster management a field of practice a profession or simply a new area of study Exploring intersectionalities the book also examines areas of research that could help enhance the discourse on disaster management from policy and practice perspectives revisiting conventional event centric approaches which are the basis for most writings on the subject Several case studies and comparative analyses reflect a critical reading of research and practice concerning disasters and their management The book offers valuable insights into various subjects including the challenge of establishing inter and multi disciplinary teams within the academia involved in disaster studies and sociological and anthropological readings of post disaster memoryscapes Each of the contributors has an enduring interest in disaster studies thus enriching the book immensely This book will be of interest to all the students and scholars of disaster studies and disaster management as well as to practitioners and policymakers

Macroeconomics R. Glenn Hubbard,Anne M. Garnett,Philip Lewis,Anthony Patrick O'Brien,2014-09-01 Macroeconomics is the most engaging introductory economics resource available to students today Using real businesses examples to show how managers use economics to make real decisions every day the subject is made relevant and meaningful Each chapter of the text opens with a case study featuring a real business or real business situation refers to the study throughout the chapter and concludes with An Inside Look a news article format which illustrates how a key principle covered in the chapter relates to real business situations or was used by a real company to make a real business decision Solved problems in every chapter motivate learners to confidently connect with the theory to solve economic problems and analyse current economic events The Wealth of (Some) Nations Zak Cope, 2019-03-20 In this provocative new study Zak Cope makes the case that capitalism is empirically inseparable from imperialism historically and today Using a rigorous political economic framework he lays bare the vast ongoing transfer of wealth from the poorest to the richest countries through the mechanisms of monopoly rent unequal exchange and colonial tribute The result is a polarised international class structure with a relatively rich Global North and an impoverished exploited Global South Cope makes the controversial claim that it is because of these conditions that workers in rich countries benefit from higher incomes and welfare systems with public health education pensions and social security As a result the internationalism of populations in the Global North is weakened and transnational solidarity is compromised The only way forward Cope argues is through a renewed anti imperialist politics rooted in a firm commitment to a radical labour internationalism
