Modern Humans John F. Hoffecker, 2017-10-31 Modern Humans is a vivid account of the most recent and perhaps the most important phase of human evolution the appearance of anatomically modern people Homo sapiens in Africa less than half a million years ago and their later spread throughout the world Leaving no stone unturned John F Hoffecker demonstrates that Homo sapiens represents a major transition in the evolution of living systems in terms of fundamental changes in the role of non genetic information Modern Humans synthesizes recent findings from genetics including the rapidly growing body of ancient DNA the human fossil record and archaeology relating to the African origin and global dispersal of anatomically modern people Hoffecker places humans in the broad context of the evolution of life emphasizing the critical role of genetic and non genetic forms of information in living systems as well as how changes in the storage transmission and translation of information underlie major transitions in evolution He also draws on information and complexity theory to explain the emergence of Homo sapiens in Africa several hundred thousand years ago and the rapid and unprecedented spread of our species into a variety of environments in Australia and Eurasia including the Arctic and Beringia beginning between 75 000 and 60 000 years ago This magisterial work will appeal to all with an interest in the ever fascinating field of human evolution

Breeding Contempt Mark Largent, 2007-08-30 Most closely associated with the Nazis and World War II atrocities eugenics is sometimes described as a government orchestrated breeding program other times as a pseudo science and often as the first step leading to genocide Less frequently it is recognized as a movement having links to the United States But eugenics does have a history in this country and Mark A Largent tells that story by exploring one of its most disturbing aspects the compulsory sterilization of more than 64 000 Americans The book begins in the mid nineteenth century when American medical doctors began advocating the sterilization of citizens they deemed degenerate By the turn of the twentieth century physicians biologists and social scientists championed the cause and lawmakers in two thirds of the United States enacted laws that required the sterilization of various criminals mental health patients epileptics and syphilitics The movement lasted well into the latter half of the century and Largent shows how even today the sentiments that motivated coerced sterilization persist as certain public figures advocate compulsory birth control such as progesterone shots for male criminals or female welfare recipients based on the same assumptions and motivations that had brought about thousands of coerced sterilizations decades ago A Biology of Human Concern William Etkin, Robert M. Devlin, Thomas G. Bouffard, 1972

Document 6 R. Buckminster Fuller, The documents in this series originated with a proposal made by R Buckminster Fuller to the International Union of Architects I U A at their VIIth Congress in London England in July 1961 launching the World Design Science Decade He proposed then that the architectural schools around the world be encouraged by the I U A to invest the next ten years in a continuing problem of how to make the total world's resources which in 1961 serve only 40% serve 100% of humanity through competent design despite a continuing decrease of metal resources per capita In essence

The World Design Science Decade series of documents suggests in great detail ways in which world architectural schools and specifically their students should initiate and assume The Design Science Decade The total series includes many of Fuller's most prescient ideas A note from the series editor John McHale Though the language of some of the texts may seem difficult at first approach it should be borne in mind that one of our major problems in thinking today 1965 is the use of language systems which still represent a fixed structurally compartmentalized world view The terms available to us for the expression of dynamic rather than static concepts are far from satisfactory Fuller's language is particularly representative of the transitional state of the western world between the older traditional noun centered culture to its present day changing verb centered culture In his search for an adequately descriptive terminology he tends to employ concepts and usages from many different fields juxtaposed in ways which may be unfamiliar to those more customarily restrained within the vocabularies of particular disciplines Description by the Buckminster Fuller Institute courtesy of The Estate of R Buckminster Fuller

Biogeochemistry W.H. Schlesinger, Emily S. Bernhardt, 2013-01-14 For the past 4 billion years the chemistry of the Earth's surface where all life exists has changed remarkably Historically these changes have occurred slowly enough to allow life to adapt and evolve In more recent times the chemistry of the Earth is being altered at a staggering rate fueled by industrialization and an ever growing human population Human activities from the rapid consumption of resources to the destruction of the rainforests and the expansion of smog covered cities are all leading to rapid changes in the basic chemistry of the Earth The Third Edition of Biogeochemistry considers the effects of life on the Earth's chemistry on a global level This expansive text employs current technology to help students extrapolate small scale examples to the global level and also discusses the instrumentation being used by NASA and its role in studies of global change With the Earth's changing chemistry as the focus this text pulls together the many disparate fields that are encompassed by the broad reach of biogeochemistry With extensive cross referencing of chapters figures and tables and an interdisciplinary coverage of the topic at hand this text will provide an excellent framework for courses examining global change and environmental chemistry and will also be a useful self study guide Emphasizes the effects of life on the basic chemistry of the atmosphere the soils and seawaters of the Earth Calculates and compares the effects of industrial emissions land clearing agriculture and rising population on Earth's chemistry Synthesizes the global cycles of carbon nitrogen phosphorous and sulfur and suggests the best current budgets for atmospheric gases such as ammonia nitrous oxide dimethyl sulfide and carbonyl sulfide Includes an extensive review and up to date synthesis of the current literature on the Earth's biogeochemistry Biosphere 2000
