

World War II Crash Course Black American History #91 EOC

Correct answers:

1. Segregation limited the nature of the duties black soldiers were assigned to and restricted the possibility for upward mobility. Despite all that they had done for the American military in previous wars, many still considered black soldiers to be too cowardly to fight, too dumb to execute military strategy, and too unfit to lead others.
2. Black and white military personnel have been divided into separate units since the Civil War, and during World War II, they continued to be kept in separate facilities. There were segregated sleeping quarters, transportation, canteens, and even dental services.
3. Black women were not treated equally to white women when they joined the war effort. There were organizations designed for each branch of the military that provided career opportunities for women who joined the war effort, including the Women's Army Corps, Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service, and Women's Air Force Service Plans. While many white women could expect to receive medical training, earn leadership roles, or even operate aircraft, black women who joined were largely relegated to manual labor.
4. Black women were relegated to positions such as hospital orderlies despite being promised training as medical technicians. Despite these limitations, black women distinguished themselves in service.
5. Black American women suffered mistreatment from all kinds of people, including white and black men and women.
6. Gertrude Marguerite Ivory Bennett was a black member of the Army Nurse Corps who served as a nurse at Fort Bragg and the West African theater during World War II. She recorded several accounts of her experience that give us insight into the expectations versus the realities of black women who joined the fight.
7. The podium porter could have lost his job for allowing the speaker to sit in first class.
8. Bennett's experiences highlight only a fraction of what black men and women went through during the war, but they offer a picture of how truly extraordinary it was for those who were able to excel amid rampant discrimination.
9. The 370th Anti-Aircraft Barrage Balloon Battalion and the 761st Tank Battalion were some of the black units that became shining emblems of resilience and triumph during World War II.
10. The 8888th Infantry Regiment was called the Black Devils and had the coveted distinction of being the only black regiment to have all black officers.
11. The Tuskegee Army were the first black military aviators in the U.S. Army Air Corps, and their nickname was the Red Tails.
12. The Double Y campaign was a newspaper marketing campaign led by James C. Thompson that was meant to remind Americans that while there was fighting against fascism going on abroad, there was a lot of work to do on the fight against racism here at home.
