A-level Biology W. D. Phillips,T. J. Chilton,1989 Inclusive Humanism Christoph Antweiler,2012-09-11 The diversity of interconnected cultures on a bounded planet requires more shared orientations The humanities and politics have to face fundamental questions What does a humanism look like that does not move too rapidly to universalize the views and historical experiences of the European or American world How can we conceive of globality as a new entity without playing unity and diversity off against one another Does a world culture that is becoming ever closely related in fact need common values or only rules of human exchange How can we succeed at civilizing an ever present ethnocentrism How do we keep the terms culture and humanity from being misused as weapons in identity wars Any realistic cosmopolitanism must proceed from an understanding of humankind as one entity without requiring us to re design cultures to fit on with some sort of global template Answers can be gained by deploying shared characteristics of humans as well as pan cultural commonalities This book offers an anthropologically informed foundation for addressing pertinent questions of intercultural exchange

Collected Papers from the Department of Biology of the School of Hygiene and Public Health of the Johns Hopkins University Johns Hopkins University. School of Hygiene and Public Health. Department of Biology,1928 Chiefly reprints from various scientific journals Culture, Biology, and Anthropological Demography Eric Abella Roth,2004-08-16 Two distinctive approaches to the study of human demography exist within anthropology today anthropological demography and human evolutionary ecology The first stresses the role of culture in determining population parameters while the second posits that demographic rates reflect adaptive behaviors that are the products of natural selection Both sub disciplines have achieved notable successes but each has ignored and been actively disdainful of the other This text attempts a rapprochement of anthropological demography and human evolutionary ecology through recognition of common research topics and the construction of a broad theoretical framework incorporating both cultural and biological motivation Both these approaches are utilized to search for demographic strategies in varied cultural and temporal contexts ranging from African pastoralists through North American post industrial societies As such this book is relevant to cultural and biological anthropologists demographers sociologists and historians

R. Dark,2016-10-06 Since the end of the Cold War analysts of international politics have given much greater attention to issues of change It has become increasingly clear to specialists from many fields that any understanding of large scale political change must encompass far longer timescales than has been usual in the study of world politics and must incorporate multi disciplinary perspectives This book evaluates and draws on relevant theoretical approaches from other disciplines such as sociology economics geography history anthropology and archaeology as well as evolutionary theory and the mathematical study of complexity Using an epistemological framework Dark sets out a theory of long term world political change the theory of Macrodynamics This is then applied to historical anthropological and archaeological data to explain the changing forms of political organization from the earliest human societies to the late twentieth century The resulting analysis is a reinterpretation of the processes of global political change in the past and present This in turn opens new areas of enquiry in the study of international relations and has profound implications for how we understand the changing world of today Evolution and Human Behaviour John Cartwright, 2017-09-16 Our experience of the world is driven by processes common to all animals growth survival reproduction and death Evolution and Human Behaviour explores the complexities of the human experience through the lens of Darwinism drawing on a long and vibrant tradition of different theories and interpretations This textbook offers a compelling synthesis of key concepts addressing human thought feeling and behaviour in fundamental evolutionary terms This is a essential text for undergraduate students taking courses in psychology human biology ethology anthropology and human behavioural ecology providing an insightful and comprehensive introduction for anyone who wishes to understand how human behaviour has evolved new_to_this_edition Additional chapters on health and disease homosexuality the nature of adaptations and life history theory Includes brand new material on epigenetics patterns of crime error management theory moral foundations theory religion and gene culture co evolution Now accompanied by a companion website offering additional reading material and useful practice questions New controversy boxes in each chapter providing ideas for essay topics and classroom discussion
