- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - Turn off the lights at the end of the work day.
 - Use red light for night shifts, as the wavelength of this light may be less disruptive to the circadian rhythm. Red light has a wavelength of approximately 650 nm, which is outside the blue spectrum of light that is most disruptive to the circadian rhythm.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the output rises. The producer will want to produce more of the output because the marginal revenue from selling the output is now higher. The producer will continue to increase output until the marginal revenue is equal to the marginal cost of producing the output.

Future Research

Careless Spilling, pushing, or climbing on the Tivvy causes the Tivvy to tilt, but doesn't necessarily turn itself off. It will keep on for a while before the Tivvy will turn itself off. It's the top-down covering being required in most of the cases all safety precautions provided for the Tivvy. Spilling outside of the Tivvy is the most likely, and safety, when you push or pull or install the Tivvy. Spilling, pushing, or climbing on the Tivvy will cause the Tivvy to tilt.
