Doran, 1988-01-01 entirety to contemporary readers Book Jacket Making a Scientific Case for Conscious Agency and Free Will William R. Klemm, 2016-02-11 Making a Scientific Case for Conscious Agency and Free Will makes a series of arguments that certain human behaviors are impossible to explain in the absence of free will and that free will emerges from materialistic processes of brain function It outlines future directions for neuroscience studies that can harness emerging technologies and tools for systems level analysis All humans have the sensation that they consciously will certain things to happen and that in the absence of external constraints they are free to choose from among alternatives This notion of free will is deemed obvious by the average person based on common experience Free will is frequently defended with arguments stemming from social legal philosophical and religious perspectives But these arguments appeal to consequences not causes of choices and decisions In the past 3 decades debate has raged within the scientific community over whether free will is in fact an illusion Because free will would require conscious agency the supporting corollary is that consciousness itself cannot do anything and is merely an observer rather than an actor Considers arguments for and against free will from religious social legal and neuroscience perspectives Provides thorough coverage of the manifold human behaviors that can be explained only by free will from consciousness to creativity Outlines future directions for further neuroscience research into the topic The Journal of Abnormal Psychology and Social Psychology, 1924 Patterns of Consciousness Marc Edmund Jones, 2010-07-01 Marc Jones marshals a lifetime of study to apply the philosophy of Ibn Gabirol in spelling out sixteen ways of understanding consciousness from the inside as individual experience Seeing mankind as immersed in a universe of flux he provides examples to trace unique individual conscious development from birth to death as well as tracing the development of mankind historically There are two basic drives starting from birth the person builds on personal health to contribute in the social and wider world and beginning with the essential purity of mind there is the opportunity to expand into potential understanding The Rise of Consciousness and the Development of Emotional Life Michael Lewis, 2013-10-16 Synthesizing decades of influential research and theory Michael Lewis demonstrates the centrality of consciousness for emotional development At first infants competencies constitute innate reactions to particular physical events in the child's world These action patterns are not learned but are readily influenced by temperament and social interactions With the rise of consciousness these early competencies become reflected feelings giving rise to the self-conscious emotions of empathy envy and embarrassment and later shame guilt and pride Focusing on typically developing children Lewis also explores problems of atypical emotional development Winner of William James Book Award Society for General Psychology APA Division 1 Journal of Abnormal Psychology and Social Psychology, 1924 Animal Minds, Animal Souls, Animal Rights James V.
