Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group (CON) or an exercise group (EX). The EX group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The EX group showed a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the CON group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively reduce HR and increase EE in sedentary, middle-aged women.

- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the color of the light to be similar to the color of the sky at the end of the day. When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. - When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the product rises. The producer will want to produce more of the product, and this will be achieved by hiring more labor.
