Congress. Office of Technology Assessment, 1981 Background Paper , 1993 Impacts of Technology on U.S. Cropland and Rangeland Productivity August 1982 , Pathways for Peace United Nations, World Bank, 2018-04-13 Violent conflicts today are complex and increasingly protracted involving more nonstate groups and regional and international actors It is estimated that by 2030 the horizon set by the international community for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals more than half of the world's poor will be living in countries affected by high levels of violence Information and communication technology population movements and climate change are also creating shared risks that must be managed at both national and international levels Pathways for Peace is a joint United Nations World Bank Group study that originates from the conviction that the international community's attention must urgently be refocused on prevention A scaled up system for preventive action would save between US 5 billion and US 70 billion per year which could be reinvested in reducing poverty and improving the well being of populations The study aims to improve the way in which domestic development processes interact with security diplomacy mediation and other efforts to prevent conflicts from becoming violent It stresses the importance of grievances related to exclusion from access to power natural resources security and justice for example that are at the root of many violent conflicts today Based on a review of cases in which prevention has been successful the study makes recommendations for countries facing emerging risks of violent conflict as well as for the international community Development policies and programs must be a core part of preventive efforts when risks are high or building up inclusive solutions through dialogue adapted macroeconomic policies institutional reform and redistributive policies are required Inclusion is key and preventive action needs to adopt a more people centered approach that includes mainstreaming citizen engagement Enhancing the participation of women and youth in decision making is fundamental to sustaining peace as well as long term policies to address the aspirations of women and young people Resources in Education , 1990

Legislative Establishment Appropriation Bill United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations, 1994
Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on Government Operations United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Government Operations, 1971 Singapore Perspectives 2012 Soon Hock Kang, 2013 The Singapore Perspectives series is a yearly publication that provides critical analysis of emerging trends and issues Singapore faces in terms of social economic and political development It is a quick and essential reference for understanding the broad policy discussions that animate thought leaders policy makers and the public in the country during the immediate period or that are likely to do so in the short and medium term This edited volume brings together papers presented at the Singapore Perspectives 2012 Conference The Conference came in the wake of Singapore's General Elections held on May 7 2011 whose outcome resulted in Singapore's political leaders taking a fresh look at Singapore's public policy. More importantly, the government has pledged to reconnect with all segments of society as it grapples with the issues that have arisen. Some of the major issues discussed in the book include the widening income gap, the affordability of housing and healthcare, as well as the re-examination of the processes of citizen participation in policy making. The book also includes the speech made by Mr. Tharman Shanmugaratnam, Deputy Prime Minister of Singapore, that outlines his views on the model of governance and policies that would help the country bridge the divides. Co-published by the think tank, the Institute of Policy Studies, Singapore, this is a useful publication for those with an interest in understanding the governance challenges facing a small, highly globalised economy and nation state or those who want a quick feel of the pulse of Singapore. Navy Photographer's Mate Training Series Tom Regina, 1983 World Development Report 1994, 1994 World Development Report 1994 examines the link between infrastructure and development and explores ways in which developing countries can improve both the provision and the quality of infrastructure services. In recent decades, developing countries have made substantial investments in infrastructure, achieving dramatic gains for households and producers by expanding their access to services such as safe water, sanitation, electric power, telecommunications, and transport. Even more infrastructure investment and expansion are needed in order to extend the reach of services, especially to people living in rural areas and to the poor. But as this report shows, the quantity of investment cannot be the exclusive focus of policy. Improving the quality of infrastructure service also is vital. Both quantity and quality improvements are essential to modernize and diversify production, help countries compete internationally, and accommodate rapid urbanization. The report identifies the basic cause of poor past performance as inadequate institutional incentives for improving the provision of infrastructure. To promote more efficient and responsive service delivery, incentives need to be changed through commercial management, competition, and user involvement. Several trends are helping to improve the performance of infrastructure. First, innovation in technology and in the regulatory management of markets makes more diversity possible in the supply of services. Second, an evaluation of the role of government is leading to a shift from direct government provision of services to increasing private sector provision, and recent experience in many countries with public-private partnerships is highlighting new ways to increase efficiency and expand services. Third, increased concern about social and environmental sustainability has heightened public interest in infrastructure design and performance. Education for All Global Monitoring Report 2008 United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), 2007-11-29 Working towards the 2015 millennium development goals, this global report marks the midterm point and provides a rich evidence-based assessment of the provision of education on a global scale. Based on specialized commissions, extensive consultations, and multiple research sources, the report provides an authoritative comparative reference. Technologies for the Preservation of Prehistoric & Historic Landscapes, 1987 Research in Education, 1974 Survey of Current Business, 1996 Issues in medical waste management
