Korsmeyer,2019 Things In Touch with the Past explores the value of artifacts that have survived from the past and that can be said to embody their histories Such genuine or real things afford a particular kind of aesthetic experience an encounter with the past despite the fact that genuineness is not a perceptually detectable property Although it often goes unnoticed the sense of touch underlies such encounters even though one is often not permitted literal touch Carolyn Korsmeyer begins her account with the claim that wonder or marvel at old things fits within an experiential account of the aesthetic She then presents her main argument regarding the role of touch both when literal contact is made and when proximity suffices for touch is a fundamental sense that registers bodily position and location Correct understanding of the identity of objects is presumed when one values things just because of what they are and with discovery that a mistake has been made admiration is often withdrawn Far from undermining the importance of the genuine these errors of identification confirm it Korsmeyer elaborates this position with a comparison between valuing artifacts and valuing persons She also considers the ethical issues of genuineness for artifacts can be harmed in various ways ranging from vandalism to botched restoration She examines the differences between a real thing and a replica in detail making it clear that genuineness comes in degrees Her final chapter reviews the ontology that best suits an account of persistence over time of things that are valued for being the real thing

Long Suffering Karen Gonzalez Rice, 2016-09-29 An unflinching illuminating look at three U S artists and their performances of suffering

Making Feminist Media Elizabeth Groeneveld, 2016-08-30 Making Feminist Media provides new ways of thinking about the vibrant media and craft cultures generated by Riot Grrrl and feminism's third wave. It focuses on a cluster of feminist publications including BUST Bitch HUES Venus Zine and Rockrgrl that began as zines in the 1990s. By tracking their successes and failures, this book provides insight into the politics of feminism's recent past. Making Feminist Media brings together interviews with magazine editors, research from zine archives, and analysis of the advertising articles, editorials, and letters to the editor found in third wave feminist magazines. It situates these publications within the long history of feminist publishing in the United States and Canada and argues that third wave feminist magazines share important continuities and breaks with their historical forerunners. These publishing lineages challenge the still dominant and hotly contested wave metaphor categorization of feminist culture. The stories, struggles, and strategies of these magazines not only represent contemporary feminism; they create and shape feminist cultures. The publications provide a feminist counter public sphere in which the competing interests of editors, writers, readers, and advertisers can interact. Making Feminist Media argues that reading feminist magazines is far more than the consumption of information or entertainment; it is a profoundly intimate and political activity that shapes how readers understand themselves and each other as feminist thinkers.

Global Photography Erina Duganne, Heather Diack, Terri Weissman, 2020-06-08 This innovative text recounts the history of photography through a series of thematically structured chapters. Designed and written for students studying photography and its history, each chapter approaches its subject by introducing a range of international contemporary photographers and then contextualizing their work in historical terms. The book offers students an accessible route to gain an understanding of the key genres, theories, and debates that are fundamental to the study of this rich and complex medium. Individual chapters cover major topics including Description and Abstraction, Truth and Fiction, The Body, Landscape, War, Politics of Representation, Form, Appropriation, Museums, The Archive, The Cinematic, Fashion, Photography, and Boxed focus. Studies throughout the text offer short interviews, curatorial statements, and reflections by photographers, critics, and leading scholars that link photography's history with its practice. Short chapter summaries, research questions, and further reading lists help to reinforce learning and promote discussion. Whether coming to the subject from an applied photography or art history background, students will benefit from this book's engaging example-led approach to the subject, gaining a sophisticated understanding of international photography in historical terms.
