

Leaving School Poem

Leaving

Primary school is over now with high school coming fast,
I have to tell you this last year has simply been a blast.

Shortly you'll be moving on to somewhere fresh and new,
This school will be so different when we do not have you.

We've watched you grow and turn into the person that you are,
To read and write and count with ease, you simply are a star!

We want you to remember, a message from us all,
Live your life and chase your dreams, whether big or small.

You are unique and wonderful and sadly, will be missed.
So grab life and forever hold it tightly in your fist.

Goodbye from us and thank you as it has been so much fun,
Remember you are special and you're simply number one!

Teaching Poetry in the Primary Classroom Gervase Phinn, 2009-01-05 When asked by the school inspector what he thought of poetry an eleven year old replied that it s all la dida and daffodils isn t it In his primary school the boy had come across very little poetry apart from nursery rhymes snatches of rhyming verse and a few comic pieces and nonsense poems Poetry to him was something arcane not really related to his own life He had studied no powerful challenging contemplative arresting quirky poems and had written very few poems himself His teacher admitted that he was no English specialist had received few ideas at college on the teaching of poetry and didn t really know where to start As children progress through the primary school they need to be exposed to a rich diet of poetry and encouraged to read perform and write it themselves

Providing a varied and stimulating environment is essential if it is to flourish. In addition, children need specific guidance and ideas to start them off writing their own poems. This book, written by a former teacher and school inspector and popular and widely published children's poet, offers an accessible practical and structured programme for the teaching of this sometimes neglected aspect of the English curriculum. Irish Children's Literature and Culture Keith O'Sullivan, Valerie Coghlan, 2011-03-17

What constitutes a national literature is rarely straightforward and it is especially complex when discussing writing for young people in an Irish context. Until recently there was only a slight body of work that could be classified as Irish children's literature whatever the parameters in comparison with Ireland's contribution to adult literature in the twentieth century. This volume looks critically at Irish writing for children from the 1980s to the present, examining the work of many writers and illustrators and engaging with all the major forms and genres. Topics include the gothic, the speculative, picturebooks, poetry, post-colonial discourse, identity and ethnicity and globalization. Modern Irish children's literature is also contextualized in relation to Irish mythology and earlier writings, thereby demonstrating the complexity of this fascinating area. The contributors, who are leading experts in their fields, examine a range of texts in relation to contemporary literary and cultural theory and also in relation to writing for adults, thereby inviting a consideration of how well writing for a young audience can compare with writing for an adult one. This groundbreaking work is essential reading for all interested in Irish literature, childhood and children's literature. Drama Lessons for the Primary School Year John Doona, 2012-11-12

A year of drama ready to use schemes at your fingertips. 25 topical schemes of work. 100 drama lessons. This book really will offer some new and exciting ideas for teachers to teach. Even teachers who enjoy their job often complain that they become stale after teaching the same things every year. They look for new ideas that will reignite their enthusiasm. I think this book could offer some sparks. Jo Howells, English Advisor, Warwickshire Educational Development Service. Looking to engage, enthral and educate your pupils in timely and topical drama-based activities. In need of dynamic and inventive cross-curricular exercises for single lessons, extended units or school assemblies. From the September blues of change through Great Fires, Guy Fawkes, Antarctic penguins, Rainbow Fish and Chinese Walls to Mandela's mighty day, this book offers a fascinating array of lives to be lived and journeys to be made. Drama Lessons for the Primary School Year will enable teachers to develop their expertise and confidence in order to create active and imaginative schemes of drama for the classroom. It offers a programme of ready-to-run workshops linked to specific dates in the calendar and specific themes into which teachers can readily dip on a regular basis. The first section uncovers the author's own creative processes in generating drama, experience and offers it to the reader in a set of simple practical steps. The rest of the book is a wide-ranging compendium of schemes of work attached to specific calendar dates throughout the school year. These detailed drama lesson plans can be run as one-off workshops or can be used by teachers as a basis for creating their own drama-led curriculum experiences. The book offers a practical structure to support these new creative planning tasks. This indispensable resource is for all Primary teachers looking for inspiration in developing effective drama sessions exploring kinaesthetic learning and developing creative cross curricular approaches to their teaching

Living Speech in the Primary School Diana L. Morgan, 1966

Tongue of Water, Teeth of Stones Jonathan Hufstader, 2021-12-14 In a 1984 lecture on poetry and political violence Seamus Heaney remarked that the idea of poetry was itself that higher ideal to which the poets had unconsciously turned in order to survive the demeaning conditions Jonathan Hufstader examines the work of Heaney and his contemporaries to discover how poems combining conscious technique with unconscious impulse work as aesthetic forms and as strategies for emotional survival In his powerful study Hufstader shows how a number of contemporary Northern Irish poets including Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Michael Longley Paul Muldoon Tom Paulin Ciar n Carson and Medbh McGuckian explore the resources of language and poetic form in their various responses to cultural conflict and political violence Focusing on both style and social contexts Hufstader explores the tension between solidarity and art between the poet's need to belong and to rebel He believes that an understanding of the power of lyric points towards an understanding of the source of social violence and of its cessation
