Authenticity across Languages and Cultures Leo Will,Wolfgang Stadler,Irma Eloff,2022-11-10 This volume centres around concepts of personal and cultural authenticity as they play out in various contexts of foreign language teaching and learning worldwide The chapters cover a wide range of contexts and disciplines including both theoretical and empirical work together they comprise both a rigorous analysis of authenticity in language teaching and a step away from notions of native speakerism and cultural essentialism with which it is often associated Written by a group of scholars working across several continents the chapters offer diverse perspectives regarding the role language plays in processes of personal growth learning development self actualisation and power dynamics The book addresses the theoretical and philosophical nature of authenticity while remaining grounded in the teaching and learning of languages with authenticity viewed as a practical concern that guides our actions and beliefs The book will be of interest to scholars researchers and students of authenticity as well as foreign language teachers interested in the theoretical underpinnings of their practice Ethics and Context in Second Language Testing M. Rafael Salaberry,Albert Weideman,Wei-Li Hsu,2023-11-24 This innovative timely text introduces the theory and research of critical approaches to language assessment foregrounding ethical and socially contextualized concerns in language testing and language test validation in today's globalized world. The editors bring together diverse perspectives, qualitative and quantitative methodologies, and empirical work on this subject that speak to concerns about social justice and equity in language education from languages and contexts around the world, offering an overview of key concepts and theoretical issues and field-advancing suggestions for research projects. This book offers a fresh perspective on language testing that will be an invaluable resource for advanced students and researchers of applied linguistics, sociolinguistics, language policy, education, and related fields, as well as language program administrators.

Teacher Involvement in High-Stakes Language Testing Daniel Xerri, Patricia Vella Briffa, 2018-04-27. This book advocates that teachers should play an active role in high-stakes language testing and that more weight should be given to teacher judgement. This is likely to increase the formative potential of high-stakes tests and provide teachers with a sense of ownership. The implication is that the knowledge and skills they develop by being involved in these tests will feed into their own classroom practices. The book also considers the arguments against teacher involvement, e.g., the contention that teacher involvement might entrench the practice of teaching to the test or that teachers should not be actively involved in high-stakes language testing because their judgement is insufficiently reliable. Using contributions from a wide range of international educational contexts, the book proposes that a lack of reliability in teacher judgement is best addressed by means of training and not by barring educators from participating in high-stakes language testing. It also argues that their involvement in testing helps teachers to bolster confidence in their own judgement and develop their assessment literacy. Moreover, teacher involvement empowers them to play a role in reforming high-stakes language testing so that it is more equitable and more likely to enhance classroom practices. High-stakes language tests that adopt such an inclusive approach facilitate more effective learning on the part of teachers, which ultimately benefits all their students. Challenges and Innovations in Speaking Assessment Larry Davis, John M. Norris, 2024-09-19. The assessment of second language speaking ability has played a central role in the evolution of language testing theory and practice. Educational Testing Service (ETS) has been a primary innovator in all dimensions of speaking assessment since the 1970s, addressing critical challenges through the advent of new test designs, scoring practices, and measurement technologies to make especially large-scale standardized testing of speaking ability a reality. This volume presents a sample of key ETS research and development efforts related to speaking assessment over the years. The contributors highlight diverse contributions to conceptualizing the speaking construct, designing speaking test tasks, scoring speech samples, marshalling technologies for test delivery, and automated scoring and developing end-to-end speaking assessment procedures. The first part emphasizes how some of the earliest large-scale speaking assessments were designed and put into practice. The second part features research and development related to speaking assessments in the TOEIC and TOEFL testing suites, emphasizing their validity and scoring. The third part introduces research-based innovations in testing new and more nuanced speaking constructs and in using automated scoring.

of speech to address diverse assessment needs The volume will appeal to language testing professionals and test score users in illuminating how ETS has influenced the development of speaking assessment as well as pointing to multiple directions for future research and practice
