The Russian war scare of 1884 and the public's anxiety about the Royal Navy's ability to fight a modern war at sea resulted in the Naval Defence Act of 1889 and a vast programme of warship construction. Over the next twenty years a fleet of 52 battleships was built construction finally interrupted by the revolutionary Dreadnought design. In this new volume the author presents full details of design and construction armament protection machinery and performance all backed up with accurate data tables listing design figures trials results and full particulars at different stages in the ships careers. The history of each battleship is chronicled and the reader is reminded of their major contribution in the First World War. They bore the brunt of the action at the Dardanelles bombarded the Belgian coast patrolled the North Sea and the Channel reinforced the Italian Fleet and served in East Africa the East Indies and the White Sea. Most were extensively modified during the War and this variety has made them of special interest to the historian enthusiast and ship modeller. At a time when the future of the sovereignty of Parliament may look less than assured this book develops an account of the continuing significance of the doctrine. Addressing the critical challenges to the doctrine it contends that this conception of legally unlimited legislative power provides the best explanation of contemporary developments in UK constitutional practice while
