philosophical and literary tradition offering a wide range of perspectives on animals ethics and the future of animal studies Essays question the reducibility of animal lives to rights discourse on the one hand and scientific empiricisms on the other and examine whether and how the advent of the posthuman will affect the standing and the future of the nonhuman animal

Animals and Courts Mark Hengerer, Nadir Weber, 2019-12-16 Early modern princely courts were not only inhabited by humans but also by a large number of animals This coexistence of non human living beings had crucial impacts on the spatial organization the social composition and cultural life at these courts The contributions enrich our knowledge on another aspect of court life and invite to reconsider our basic understandings of court courtiers and court society Animals as

Experiencing Entities Michael J. Glover, Les Mitchell, 2024-03-04 This volume explores the experiences of those with little or no power usually although not exclusively animals The theme of animals as experiencing entities is what links the chapters and characterises the volume Broadly each author in this volume contributes in one of two ways The first group in Section 1 theoretically engages animal subjectivity animal experiences and ways in which these are to some extent accessible and knowable to humans The second group of authors in Section 2 offer narrative accounts about specific animals or groups of animals and explore to some extent their subjective historical experiences In summary the first section diversely theorises about animal experiences while the second section's authors assume animals subjective experiences and construct narratives that take into account how animals might have subjectively experienced historical phenomena Animal History in the Modern City Clemens Wischermann, Aline Steinbrecher, Philip Howell, 2018-09-06 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched Animals are increasingly recognized as fit and proper subjects for historians yet their place in conventional historical narratives remains contested This volume argues for a history of animals based on the centrality of liminality the state of being on the threshold not quite one thing yet not quite another Since animals stand between nature and culture wildness and domestication the countryside and the city and tradition and modernity the concept of liminality has a special resonance for historical animal studies Assembling an impressive cast of contributors this volume employs liminality as a lens through which to study the social and cultural history of animals in the modern city It includes a variety of case studies such as the horse human relationship in the towns of New Spain hunting practices in 17th century France the birth of the zoo in Germany and the role of the stray dog in the Victorian city demonstrating the interrelated nature of animal and human histories Animal History in the Modern City is a vital resource for

Big History is the first philosophical reference work to recognize that History is not what it used to be the historical sciences Deep History Big History and even the history of the Anthropocene have now expanded the scope of historiography beyond that of literate civilizations to cover all scientific inferences about the past from the Big Bang through the history of the planet and the history of life to the history of humanity Different views about the scope of History have ontological epistemic methodological explanatory ethical and educational reasons and implications The historical sciences and the knowledge they have generated are founded on theories of knowledge of the past epistemology of history The contributions in this book consider whether there are common epistemic properties to all the historical sciences that distinguish them from non historical or theoretical sciences The first part of the handbook examines the recent expansion of the scope of the historical sciences in Big History natural history global history and environmental history and older broader concepts of history like universal history and philosophy of history The second part of the handbook addresses the ontology and epistemology of the past including the basic concepts of the historical sciences such as origins the end of history determination and underdetermination contingency and necessity historical predictions and counterfactuals and historical pseudoscience The third part examines the philosophies of the special historical sciences historical linguistics textual criticism geology evolutionary biology systematics archaeology cosmology history of the environment and most significantly their integrations and combinations for example how genetics archaeology and historical linguistics have generated a whole new knowledge of deep human history This collection offers an overview of what the philosophy of the historical sciences is and is becoming for students and experts alike

Outside the Anthropological Machine Chiara Mengozzi, 2020-05-14 In the midst of the climate crisis and the threat of the sixth extinction we can no longer claim to be the masters of nature Rather we need to unlearn our species arrogance for the sake of all animals human and non human Rethinking our being in the world as Homo sapiens this monograph argues starts precisely from the way we relate to our closer companion species The authors gathered here endeavour to find multiple exit strategies from the anthropocentric paradigms that have bound the human and social sciences Part I investigates the unexplored margins of human history by re reading historical events literary texts and scientific findings from an animal s perspective rather than a human s Part II explores different forms of human animal relationships putting the emphasis on the institutions spaces and discourses that frame our interactions with animals Part III engages with processes of translation that aim to render animals experience and perception into human words and visual language

Animal Narratives and Culture Anna Barcz, 2017-03-07 The term vulnerable realism can imply two different understandings one presenting weak realism as incomplete and mixed with other literary styles the other bringing realistic vulnerable experience into narration The second is the key concern of this work though it does not exclude the first as it asks questions about realism as such entering into a polemic with the tradition of literary realism Realism then is not primarily understood as a narrative style but as a narration that tests the probability of nonhuman vulnerable experience and makes it real The book consists of three parts The first presents examples of how realism has been redefined in trauma studies and how it may refer to animal experience The second explores what is added to the narrative by literature including the animal perspective the zoonarrative and how it is conducted zoocriticism The third analyses cultural texts such as painting circuses and memorials which realistically generate animal vulnerability and provide non anthropocentric frameworks anchoring our knowledge in the experience of fragile historical reality Animality and Horror Cinema Peter Sands, Mo O' Neill, Samantha Hind, 2025-09-15

Animality and Horror Cinema provides a wide ranging overview of the role played by animals in the genre of horror cinema Across four sections that unite affective and generic modes of horror with animals animality and the discourse of species the volume demonstrates the multivalent operation of animality in transnational cinemas that look beyond the trope of monstrous adversity associated with the creature feature With chapters focusing on the extrusion of animals from horror narratives the multisensorial dimensions of animal horror the intrusion of documentary violence and the horrific contiguity of human and nonhuman flesh it argues for the concept of creaturely fear as a lens through which to read horror s blurring of the species barrier The collection appeals to those interested in the intersection of animal and film studies with memory studies afropessimism and critical race theory posthumanism biopolitics ecocriticism queer theory and vegan theory History as a Kind of Writing Philippe Carrard, 2017-03-07 In academia the traditional role of the humanities is being questioned by the posts postmodernism poststructuralism and postfeminism which means that the project of writing history only grows more complex In History as a Kind of Writing scholar of French literature and culture Philippe Carrard speaks to this complexity by focusing the lens on the current state of French historiography Carrard s work here is expansive examining the conventions historians draw on to produce their texts and casting light on views put forward by literary theorists theorists of history and historians themselves Ranging from discussions of lengthy dissertations on 1960s social and economic history to a more contemporary focus on events actors memory and culture the book digs deep into the how of history How do historians arrange their data into narratives What strategies do they employ to justify the validity of their descriptions Are actors given their own voice Along the way Carrard also readdresses questions fundamental to the field including its necessary membership in the narrative genre the presumed objectivity of historiographic writing and the place of history as a science distinct from the natural and theoretical sciences Solidarity Between Species Frederic

Keck, 2025-05-06 This book examines how the Covid 19 pandemic can be described as a biopolitical crisis taking into account a fact often overlooked by commentators Covid 19 is a zoonosis a disease transmissible between animal species The Sars Cov2 virus causing this respiratory disease circulated in bats before passing to humans under as yet mysterious conditions and it was transmitted from humans to other species notably mink and deer Building on Michel Foucault s revival of the term biopolitics and related notions disciplinary power pastoral power cynegetic power this book traces a set of public health measures taken over the last two centuries to control epidemics It underlines how the need to conserve virus strains in order to identify and anticipate their mutations has given rise to cryopolitics a set of techniques aimed at suspending the living in order to defer death The book then questions the emancipatory scope of this cryopolitics by examining interspecies solidarity built by the warning signals sent by animals to humans about coming threats be they pandemics natural disasters or climate change By blurring the boundaries between the wild and the domestic resulting from the process of domestication the politics of zoonoses relies on sentinels who preserve the memory of signs from the past to prepare living beings for future threats by involving them in a common ideal

France au XIXe siècle - 4e éd. Jean Garrigues,Philippe Lacombrade,2019-05-15 En un siècle de la fin de l'Empire en 1814 jusqu'au premier conflit mondial en 1914 la France est passée de l'Ancien Régime à la modernité. C'est un siècle de transformations profondes travers la succession des régimes politiques qui ont abouti à l'épanouissement du modèle républicain. C'est un siècle qui a vu la révolution industrielle la croissance urbaine l'affirmation de la bourgeoisie d'affaires et la naissance du prolétariat. C'est le siècle de la déchristianisation progressive et de la laïcisation républicaine. Enfin c'est un siècle d'un extraordinaire bouillonnement intellectuel et créatif traversé par le romantisme le positivisme le symbolisme l'impressionnisme et l'Art nouveau. Des mises au point historiographiques et biographiques des commentaires de documents un glossaire des rappels chronologiques et biographiques contribuent à clarifier les principaux aspects de cette période d'innovations et de renouveau.

Rethinking Nature Aurélie Choné,Isabelle Hajek,Philippe Hamman,2017-05-18 This textbook provides an overview of different ways of conceptualising nature in epistemological terms reflecting the tensions between the polarities of humans as masters or protectors of nature or as part of or outside of nature.

Rulers and Raptors Nadir Weber,2025-10-01 Rulers and Raptors argues that by studying animal biographies we gain a new perspective on early modern court society. Combining court studies and historical animal studies it brings together two vibrant but rarely combined fields of research and shows how the presence of non-human creatures shaped everyday life and political representation in Europe's dynastic centres. Through an in-depth analysis of the symbolic and practical functions of birds of prey in courtly life the book demonstrates that in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries falconry was much more than a hunting technique it served as a model for the mutual empowerment of the sovereign and his noble subjects the essence of the Baroque style of government that gave rise to European court society. Weber pays close attention to the birds' life trajectories and thereby shines a spotlight on a large network of agents including rural bird catchers bourgeois animal traders and noble falconers at court who made the aerial spectacles possible. Focusing on these people's interactions with the raptors the book proposes to rethink early modern human-animal relations showing that falcons escaped clear distinctions between wild and domestic nature and civilization. The book thus simultaneously shows how early modern European rulers valued raptors as a key symbol of their power and how this very symbol of monarchical sovereignty pointed to the limits of human control over the animal kingdom on the eve of the Anthropocene. Personal Narratives, Peripheral Theatres: Essays on the Great War (1914-18) Anthony Barker,Maria Eugénia Pereira,Maria Teresa Cortez,Paulo Alexandre Pereira,Otilia Martins,2017-12-14 This book is a collection of essays on neglected aspects of the Great War. It begins by asking what exactly was so Great about it before turning to individual studies of various aspects of the war. These fall broadly into two categories. Firstly personal micro-narratives that deal directly with the experience of war.

often derived from contemporary interest in diaries and oral histories Presenting both a close up view of the viscerality and the tedium and powerlessness of personal situations these same narratives also address the effects of the war on hitherto under regarded groups such as children and animals Secondly the authors look at the impact of the course of the war on theatres often left out in reflections on the main European combatants and therefore not part of the regular iconography of the trenches in places such as Denmark Canada India the Levant Greece and East Africa
