Shipbuilding and Ship Repair Workers around the World Raquel Varela, Hugh Murphy, Marcel Linden, 2025-10-01

Maritime trade is the backbone of the world's economy. Around ninety percent of all goods are transported by ship and since World War II shipbuilding has undergone major changes in response to new commercial pressures and opportunities. Early British dominance for example was later undermined in the 1950s by competition from the Japanese who have since been overtaken by South Korea and most recently China. The case studies in this volume trace these and other important developments in the shipbuilding and ship repair industries as well as workers' responses to these historic transformations.

The Big Book, 2007 British Journal of Photography, 2007 Circular Economy and Sustainable Development

Alexandros I. Stefanakis, Ioannis E. Nikolaou, 2024-10-22 This book will highlight the role of CE in the sustainability field as it is expressed in the various fields and disciplines and its contribution to building a sustainable society by providing a better understanding of the relevant social and cultural structures and the need for cross disciplinary knowledge and diverse skills. Such an integrated approach which combines the concept of sustainability in the engineering field to create a CE has not yet been presented in detail in the published literature and there are only scattered studies covering only small parts of this holistic approach. Hence this book will represent a single reference that will provide summarized information and state of the art knowledge on this topic of the future. The book will include chapters showcasing investigating the relation between circular economy principles and their realization in different engineering fields. This includes theoretical justification, research studies and full scale case studies. The approach focuses on two distinct levels: macro and micro on both production and consumption sides. Circular Business Models in the Mobile Phone Industry David Watson, Anja Charlotte

Gyilling, Naoko Tojo, Harald Throne-Holst, Bjørn Bauer, Leonidas Milios, 2017-11-30 The circular economy offers opportunities to reduce resource use and waste whilst providing business opportunities. This is also true in the mobile phone industry that has been characterised by high rates of product obsolescence. The emergence of the smart phone has changed the landscape making repair, refurbishment and resell attractive to businesses and consumers. Moreover, emerging modular phone design should allow functional upgrades with low resource wastage. This report investigates the adoption of circular business models within Nordic markets. Producers, retailers, refurbishers, recyclers and resellers tell of their motivation, experiences and the challenges that they face. A special look is taken at consumer and waste law and the challenges and opportunities they represent. The report ends with 17 policy proposals that can accelerate the adoption of circularity in the sector. Index of
