Transforming the livestock sector through the Sustainable Development Goals Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018 For decades the livestock debate has focused on how to increase production in a sustainable manner However the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development has shifted the emphasis from fostering sustainable production per se to enhancing the contribution of the sector to the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs This publication examines the sector s interaction with each of these Goals as well as the potential synergies trade offs and complex interlinkages This global report is intended to serve as a reference framework that Member States and stakeholders can use as they engage in the transformation process of the livestock sector towards sustainability It calls for an integrated approach towards livestock sustainable development highlights the effective adaptation of the SDGs into specific and targeted national policy action as the major challenge ahead and flags the steps in the implementation road map

Talking Indian Jenny L. Davis, 2018-04-17 Winner of the Beatrice Medicine Award In south central Oklahoma and much of Indian Country using an Indigenous language is colloquially referred to as talking Indian Among older Chickasaw community members the phrase is used more often than the name of the specific language Chikashshanompa or Chickasaw As author Jenny L Davis explains this colloquialism reflects the strong connections between languages and both individual and communal identities when talking as an Indian is intimately tied up with the heritage language s of the community even as the number of speakers declines Today a tribe of more than sixty thousand members the Chickasaw Nation was one of the Native nations removed from their homelands to Oklahoma between 1837 and 1838 According to Davis the Chickasaw s dispersion from their lands contributed to their disconnection from their language over time by 2010 the number of Chickasaw speakers had radically declined to fewer than seventy five speakers In Talking Indian Davis a member of the Chickasaw Nation offers the first book length ethnography of language revitalization in a U S tribe removed from its homelands She shows how in the case of the Chickasaw Nation language programs are intertwined with economic growth that dramatically reshape the social realities within the tribe She explains how this economic expansion allows the tribe to fund various language learning forums with the additional benefit of creating well paid and socially significant roles for Chickasaw speakers Davis also illustrates how language revitalization efforts are impacted by the growing trend of tribal citizens relocating back to the Nation Education Curriculum Reforms Esther Wambua, Olivia Susan Ochoo, Ganesh Ramachandran, Dr. James Mwenda Murungi, 2024-02-01 TOPICS IN THE BOOK School Administrators Possession of Digital

Nation in African Football C. Onwumechili, G. Akindes, 2014-04-08 The 2010 South African World Cup launched African football onto the global stage This volume brings together top scholars on African football to explore a range of issues such International Responses to as gender identity nationalism history cyber fandom the media and fan radicalization Gendered-Based Domestic Violence Dongling Zhang, Diana Scharff Peterson, 2023-03-23 This edited volume represents a joint effort by international experts to analyze the prevalence and nature of gender based domestic violence across the globe and how it is dealt with at both national and international levels With studies being conducted in 20 different countries and 4 distinct regions the contributors to this volume shed light on the ways in which contextual particularities shape the practices and strategies of addressing the socio cultural and legal problem of gender based domestic violence in the countries or regions where they do research Special attention is devoted to developing countries where there is a lack of a consistent legal definition of gender based domestic violence and where violence against women is widely considered a private matter The authors of the chapters share a common goal of raising public awareness of the significance in nuanced local experiences of women and other individuals from gender and sexual minority groups facing gender based violence Furthermore the authors attend analytically to the newly emerging overlapping influences of COVID 19 and global warming Their research findings acknowledge and provide a detailed account of how the two ecological and socio economic crises can combine to produce economic devastation disconnect victims from necessary social services and assistance and create a large degree of panic and uncertainty In addition they intend to offer insights into next steps to not only adjust existing public policies legislation and social services to the ever changing national and global contexts but also to make new ones The book is intended for a wide range of scholars both professors and students and practitioners in a large number of areas including but not limited to criminal justice criminology law human rights social justice social work nursing sociology and political or public affairs Linguistic Diversity and Discrimination Sender Dovchin, Qian Gong, Toni Dobinson, Maggie McAlinden, 2023-12-11 This collection explores the ways in which women in academia from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds mediate the negotiation of linguistic discrimination and linguistic diversity in higher education using autoethnography to make visible their lived experiences The volume shows how women in academia from CaLD backgrounds particularly those living or working in the Global South draw on their multivalent complex linguistic backgrounds and cultural repertoires to cope with and manage linguistic and systemic gender discrimination. In adopting authoethnography as its key methodology the book encourages these academics to write themselves beyond the conventions from which women in academia have traditionally been forced to speak and write The collection features perspectives from women across geographic contexts sub fields and levels of experience whose stories are not often told putting at the fore their narratives lived experiences and career trajectories in mediating issues around power ideology language policy social justice teaching and learning and identity construction In so doing the book challenges the wider field to expand the borders of discussions on linguistic discrimination and higher education institutions to critically engage with these issues This book will be of interest to scholars in applied linguistics sociolinguistics and cultural studies Black/Africana Communication Theory Kehbuma Langmia, 2018-05-02 Most Western driven theories do not have a place in Black communicative experience especially in Africa Many scholars interested in articulating and interrogating Black communication scholarship are therefore at the crossroads of either having to use Western driven theory to explain a Black communication dynamic or have to use hypothetical rules to achieve their objectives since they cannot find compelling Black communication theories to use as reference Colonization and the African slave trade brought with it assimilationist tendencies that have dealt a serious blow on the cognition of most Blacks on the continent and abroad As a result their interpersonal as well as in group dialogic communication had witnessed dramatic shifts Black Africana Communication Theory assembles skilled communicologists who propose uniquely Black driven theories that stand the test of time Throughout the volume s fifteen chapters theories including but not limited to Afrocentricity Afro Cultural Mulatto Venerative Speech Theory Africana Symbolic Contextualism Theory HaramBuntu Government Diaspora Communications Theory Consciencist Communication Theory and Racial Democracy Effect Theory are introduced and discussed Re-imagining Development Communication in Africa Chuka Onwumechili, Ikechukwu Ndolo, 2013 Re imagining Development Communication in Africa is organized into three sections or parts the first focusing on the past and the history of development communication scholarship the second analyzes theoretical issues and finally a third section that looks at country cases The first part provides several perspectives on the historical development of the field as it pertains to Africa Some of these look at ideological indigenous contributions and the particular importance of gender issues The second section provides a critique of development communication theory and provides a more cultural appropriate alternative Additionally the book applies existing theory to practice in African communities This leads to the third section of the book which focuses on development communication in some country cases such as in Cameroon Kenya Nigeria and Rwanda
