At Your Service? Gaurav Nayyar, Mary

Hallward-Driemeier, Elwyn Davies, 2021-10-18 Manufacturing led development has provided the traditional model for creating jobs and prosperity But in the past three decades the conventional pattern of structural transformation has changed with the services sector growing faster than the manufacturing sector This raises critical questions about the ability of developing economies to close productivity gaps with advanced economies and to create good jobs for more people At Your Service The Promise of Services Led Development www.worldbank.org/services-led-development assesses the scope of a services driven development model and policy directions that can maximize the model's potential Global Trends in Job Polarisation and Upgrading Sergio Torrejón Pérez, Enrique Fernández-Macías, John Hurley, 2025-02-25 This open access book offers a comparative analysis of changes in employment structures on a global scale focusing on employment trends during the first decades of the 21st century across 17 developed and developing economies including countries from Europe North America Central and Latin America and Asia The authors examine patterns of occupational change in all cases with job upgrading and polarization being the most prevalent and explore the factors driving these changes such as technological change the increased participation of women the growth of service oriented sectors and others Particular attention is given to the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on employment By applying consistent methods across all countries the book provides a comprehensive understanding of employment dynamics and trends worldwide representing one of the most significant efforts to produce comparative evidence on a global scale to date As such it will be of interest to researchers and policymakers focused on labor inequality and economic development Labour Economics Bernd Fitzenberger, Werner Smolny, Peter Winker, 2016-11-21 No detailed description available for Labour Economics Management and Administration in Manufacturing Industries Leon Pratt Alford, 1922 Administration, 1922 Includes critical reviews Technological Change and Labor Markets Reyna Elizabeth Rodríguez Pérez, Liliana Meza González, 2024-10-28 In developed countries like the United States Germany and the UK it has been observed that workers who perform non routine activities either cognitive or manual have benefited in terms of employment and income while those performing routinary tasks have seen their job prospects and wages decline This has led to not only a polarization of the labor markets but also a decrease in certain measures of inequality This phenomenon has been attributed to task based technological change TBTC which differs from the skilled biased technological change in the fact that not only highly skilled workers have benefited from technology advancement This book presents evidence of how digitalization and TBTC are affecting the labor markets of different regions of the world and examines the factors that cause this inequality among nations It examines recent issues around the effect of TBTC on the labor market and the economy in general with a comparison of different countries in Central and Eastern Europe North America and Latin America as well as in other regions of the world The incorporation of these regions presents relevant particularities for the subject matter addressed in the book The book also considers questions such as how labor market effects differ by gender and what the impact of digital skills on employment inequalities and public policies might be In so doing it identifies the advances opportunities and changes that have taken place while also making public policy proposals This book will be a key reading to the global community of graduate students and researchers in the field of economics and specifically in the study of labor markets Promoting Healthy Aging Across the Lifespan Elena

Carrillo-Alvarez, Miriam Rodriguez-Monforte, Jordi Vilaró, Katherine Simone McGilton, 2024-12-26 Worldwide there is a generalized trend toward aged societies Between 2015 and 2050 the proportion of the world's population over 60 years will nearly double from 12% to 22% As life expectancy continues to increase and natality rates lower not only the composition of countries will change but also its health landscape However an increased life expectancy does not necessarily mean a healthy life In most high income countries more than 20% of those years are lived in ill health due to chronic conditions caused by non communicable diseases which compromises functional ability and well being key components of healthy aging In this way not only people's lives but also societal structures are being affected Based on the life course approach to healthy aging aging starts from conception In this regard the promotion of healthy aging requires preventive strategies that enhance capacities during growth and development maintain them for as long as possible after maturity and slow down their rate of decline Moreover considering healthy aging across the lifespan entails focusing on different factors life opportunities and choices that might significantly influence health status lifestyle as well as health and social inequalities in older age and challenges the focus of most research on the topic which exclusively investigates the effect of influences operating in the later stages of life

Louis Edward Bisch, 1919 Tasks, Skills, and Institutions Carlos Gradín, Piotr Lewandowski, Simone Schotte, Kunal Sen, 2023-06-22 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC SA 3.0 IGO licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The book investigates the trends in earnings inequalities in developing countries to determine the main drivers Particular attention is paid to extending the most conventional explanations of changes in earnings inequality based on the relative abundance of skilled and unskilled labour with recent theories that put the nature of tasks performed by workers in their jobs rather than their skills at the centre of the analysis The latter approach has helped to explain relevant patterns recently observed in the trends in earnings inequality in the US and other industrialized countries Developed countries have experienced a polarization in earnings and in employment namely stronger growth in the earnings and jobs for the most and least skilled workers at the expense of those in the middle This pattern has been attributed to differences in tasks whether a given job is routine and can be automated or offshored rather than skills and has reduced employment and incomes in typical middle class jobs in manufacturing and services However this narrative has been developed in the context of mature industrialized economies on the frontier of technological change that have also seen a large set of activities offshored to emergent economies Evidence for developing countries however is still scarce and faces bigger challenges both conceptual and in terms of gathering the necessary data on earnings and task content of jobs This book presents the main results of the UNU WIDER project The Changing Nature of Work and Inequality aiming to fill this knowledge gap
