Orientation to College Learning Van Blerkom, 1994-01-01 Quality in Higher Education Ming Cheng, 2016-09-27 Many countries now employ national evaluation systems to demonstrate publicly that universities provide a quality education However the current processes of quality evaluation are often detached from the practices of teaching and learning In particular those who teach and those who learn still have to be won over to such audit processes This book argues that it is time for the higher education sector to concern itself with the human dimension so as to develop both academic professionalism and students commitment to their learning Based on five completed research projects which explore academics and students experiences and their views of quality evaluation the book argues that developing the intrinsic values of teaching and learning held by academics and students is key to achieving high quality education In this book the author critically reviews the four most frequently used terms related to current quality evaluation fitness for purpose value for money student satisfaction and students as customers and argues for a motivationally intelligent quality approach emphasising the moral dimension and the intrinsic values of academics and students The author also outlines an improved quality evaluation system that encourages and increases academics and students commitment to teaching and learning
