Orientation and Authoritarianism in Cross-cultural Perspective Raymond F. Paloutzian, 2014-10-13 This is a special thematic edition of the International Journal for the Psychology of Religion Volume 9 Number 9 from 1999 The main topic is the religious orientation and authoritarianism in a cross cultural perspective If research such as that published in this journal issue were extended to other cultures and peoples it would facilitate international dialogue about the research on religious orientation which has been a cornerstone of Western empirical psychology of religion for the past 30 years The articles assembled in this issue of the journal present data from non Western populations and the results of a translation of religious orientation measures into a language other than English Data sets in the four articles in this issue come from Canada Ghana The United States and Poland The Oxford Handbook of Religious Conversion Lewis Ray Rambo, Charles E.

Farhadian,2014 The Oxford Handbook of Religious Conversion offers a comprehensive exploration of the dynamics of religious conversion which for centuries has profoundly shaped societies cultures and individuals throughout the world Scholars from a wide array of religions and disciplines interpret both the varieties of conversion experiences and the processes that inform this personal and communal phenomenon This volume examines the experiences of individuals and communities who change religions those who experience an intensification of their religion of origin and those who encounter new religions through colonial intrusion missionary work and charismatic and revitalization movements The thirty two innovative essays provide overviews of the history of particular religions including Hinduism Buddhism Confucianism Taoism Sikhism Islam Christianity Judaism indigenous religions and new religious movements The essays also offer a wide range of disciplinary perspectives psychological sociological anthropological legal political feminist and geographical on methods and theories deployed in understanding conversion and insight into various forms of deconversion Failure and Nerve in the Academic Study of Religion William E. Arnal,Willi Braun,Russell T. McCutcheon,2014-09-11 Failure and Nerve in the Academic Study of Religion presents a provocative critique of the unwillingness of modern scholars to publically distinguish research into comparative religion from confessional studies written within denominationally affiliated institutions The book offers the 19th Century founders of the study of religion as a bracing corrective to contemporary timidity The issue was analysed and documented by Wiebe a quarter of a century ago Here marking Wiebe s work a wide range of contributors reassess the methodology and ambition of contemporary religious research The book argues that conceptualizing religion as part of the world of human action and experience is the first requirement of the study of religion

God's Prescription for Mental Health and Religion E. Rae Harcum,2010-07-15 The central proposition of God s Prescription for Mental Health and Religion is that the highway to mental health of individuals and of society is God s prescription of selfless devotion and service to others Mental health does not refer to the absence of mental disturbance but rather to feelings of happiness and well being This message represents an integration of psychological and religious thinking both of which say that personal peace and happiness come to those who devote their lives to serving others instead of those who focus their lives on a search for personal pleasure This proposition is supported by rigorous psychological research showing that people who believe in a loving and supportive God do in fact enjoy better mental health This thesis is also supported by the insightful advice of many experts and commentators on social problems and by specific quotations from the Bible So smile if you truly believe your religion Psychotherapy and the Lonely Patient Samuel M Natale,E Mark Stern,2014-04-04 Here is an important new book focusing on the contribution of the therapist s love and empathy to the therapeutic process Technique without dedication discipline and understanding will rarely benefit patients nor help resolve their conflicts Psychoanalytic Technique demonstrates how the therapist s countertransference feelings anxieties wishes and superego admonitions shape his or her therapeutic interventions Incidental Psychotherapy Within Christian Relationships

E. Rae Harcum, 2010-11-04 Incidental Psychotherapy within Christian Relationships points out the close similarity between the loving connections of Christians and therapeutic relationships between psychotherapists and clients. Thus a simple Christian connection has an incidental therapeutic value for a troubled friend. This book continuously emphasizes that a Christian connection is never forged for the purpose of restoring mental health but to obey the Christian mandate to love. The Christian connection as a therapeutic alliance merely provides a personal preparatory stage for possible later improvement. It does not apply in any way to the use of professional therapeutic techniques. The book discusses the nature of psychotherapy, the nature of cures, and the credentials of qualified psychotherapists. Chapters focus on the nature of Christian connection and ways to improve it. Christian Theology in the Age of Migration Peter C. Phan, 2020-01-13 We are living in the Age of Migration and migration has a profound impact on all aspects of society and on religious institutions. While there is significant research on migration in the social sciences, little study has been done to understand the impact of migration on Christianity. This book investigates this important topic and the ramifications for Christian theology and ethics. It begins with anthropological and sociological perspectives on the mutual impact between migration and Christianity, followed by a re-reading of certain events in the Hebrew Scripture, the New Testament, and Church history to highlight the central role of migration in the formation of Israel and Christianity. Then follow attempts to reinterpret in the light of migration the basic Christian beliefs regarding God, Christ, and church. The next part studies how migration raises new issues for Christian ethics, such as human dignity and human rights, state rights, social justice, and solidarity, and ecological justice. The last part explores what is known as Practical Theology by examining the implications of migration for issues such as liturgy and worship, spirituality, architecture, and education. Human Interaction with the Divine, the Sacred, and the Deceased Thomas G. Plante, Gary E. Schwartz, 2021-06-30 Human Interaction with the Divine, the Sacred, and the Deceased brings together cutting-edge empirical and theoretical contributions from scholars in fields including psychology, theology, ethics, neuroscience, medicine, and philosophy to examine how and why humans engage in or even seek spiritual experiences and connection with the immaterial world. In this richly interdisciplinary volume, Plante and Schwartz recognize human interaction with the divine and departed as a cross-cultural and historical universal that continues to concern diverse disciplines. Accounting for variances in belief and human perception and use, the book is divided into four major sections: personal experience, theological consideration, medical/technological and scientific considerations, and psychological considerations, with chapters addressing phenomena including prayer, reincarnation, sensed presence, and divine revelations. Featuring scholars specializing in theology, psychology, medicine, neuroscience, and ethics, this book provides a thoughtful, compelling evidence-based and contemporary approach to gain a grounded perspective on current understandings of human interaction with the divine, the sacred, and the deceased. Of interest to believers, questioners, and unbelievers alike, this volume will be key reading for researchers, scholars, and academics engaged in the fields of religion and psychology, social psychology, behavioral neuroscience and health psychology Readers with a broader interest in spiritualism religious and non religious movements will also find the text of interest How Prophecy Lives Diana Tumminia, William H. Swatos, 2011-09-20 Taking its inspiration from the 50th anniversary of the publication of Festinger et al s 1956 seminal and controversial volume When Prophecy Fails which introduced the notion of cognitive dissonance as an explanation for how a small group of flying saucer devotees handled the failure of a predicted visit from space aliens this volume looks at both theoretical and empirical studies of religious groups for whom space beings and civilizations provided an inspiration to prepare for the nearness of events that would trigger the end of the world Rather than examining merely the rationales adopted to account for the disappointments associated with such failures the core of the present volume seeks to explore the dynamics that inspire not only such beliefs but also the vigorous participation in activities in which adherents engage to prepare for the coming of or transport to alien civilizations from outer space Contributors include Lorne L Dawson Arthur L Greil Ralph W Hood Jr Benton Johnson Salvador J Murguia Jon R Stone Bradley Whitsel and Stuart A Wright Apisteology Jack David Eller, 2025-06-25 This book unites the burgeoning scholarly literature on not believing in various disciplines into a proposed new field of apisteology It demonstrates that not believing like not knowing is a worthy and distinct subject and not merely a vacuum where belief like knowledge is lacking Several contemporary issues appear repeatedly in the book such as conspiracy theories vaccine skepticism climate change denial and fake news Each chapter begins with a vignette on one of these topics and ends with a section looking ahead to what certain disciplinary approaches to not believing can tell us Not only does this format allow us to consider how not believing is pervasive and distinct but it also allows us to consider what apisteology as a distinct field of study brings to the table Ultimately the book s consistent appeals to the constructed quality of not believing to the trust and commitment dimensions of not believing and to the critique of truth as the central or only interest in belief make it key reading for scholars and students across the social sciences and humanities Religion and Medicine Jeff

Levin, 2020-04-15 Though the current political climate might lead one to suspect that religion and medicine make for uncomfortable bedfellows the two institutions have a long history of alliance From religious healers and religious hospitals to religiously informed bioethics and research studies on the impact of religious and spiritual beliefs on physical and mental well being religion and medicine have encountered one another from antiquity through the present day In Religion and Medicine Dr Jeff Levin outlines this longstanding history and the multifaceted interconnections between these two institutions the first book to cover the full breadth of this subject Measures of Spirituality/Religiosity—Description of Concepts and Validation of Instruments Arndt Büssing, 2019-04-23 Why do we need more questionnaires to measure aspects of spirituality religiosity when we already have so many well tried instruments in use One answer is that research in this field is growing and that new research questions continuously do arise Several of these new questions cannot be easily answered with the instruments designed for previous questions The field is expanding and consequently the research topics Meanwhile several multidimensional instruments were developed which cover existential prosocial religious and non religious forms of spirituality hope peace and trust and several more The disadvantage of these instruments is the fact that some are conceptually broad and often rather unspecific but they might be suited quite well for culturally and spiritually diverse populations when the intention is to compare such diverse groups This is the reason why more research on new instruments is needed as can be found in this Special Issue and to stimulate a critical debate about their pros and cons

Sustaining Persons, Grieving Losses Dianne Crowther, 2017-01-19 Dementia presents a significant social issue in a hyper cognitive culture where stigma relational neglect and isolation still accompany forgetfulness This raises serious theological ecclesiological and pastoral questions calling for a Christian response To fight against a malignant social positioning of anyone as an empty shell is crucial nonetheless there is another pressing reality the reality of ongoing loss Often the focus is on one or the other side affirming personhood or acknowledging loss and grief Spiritual caregiving and Christian pastoral caregiving are uniquely placed to offer both sustaining relationship and grief support to both caregivers and persons with dementia This pastoral approach emerges from cultural scholarship rigorous on the ground research and theological reflection on God's purposes in responding to persons in and beyond the Christian community Christian communities are called to be places of agape love compassion and hospitality We individually and corporately are called to care to love honor value comfort and sustain one another and one another includes those who travel the road of forgetting and those who travel with them This fresh pastoral approach offers theologically and culturally informed practical ways of sustaining persons in the midst of their losses throughout the dementia journey

A New Model of Religious Conversion Ines W. Jindra, 2014-02-06 Based on the analysis of 52 conversion narratives to various religious groups A New Model of Religious Conversion utilizes case studies for comparison of converts backgrounds network influence and conversion narratives The author convincingly illustrates a fit between the converts background and the religion they convert to such as between disorganized family backgrounds and highly structured religions Conversely those from highly structured backgrounds often convert to more open groups The book also makes it clear that not all conversions are influenced by networks or align themselves with a social constructivist view of a conversion as an account Taking converts trajectories seriously the author makes a strong case for the application of biographical sociology to the study of conversion and American sociology overall
