Life As I Know It Michelle Payne, John Harms, 2017-04-03 In Life As I Know It Michelle Payne tells her deeply moving story It will lift your spirits stir your heart and give you courage Michelle was six months old the youngest of eleven children when the family was hit with the tragic death of their mother Mary Their father Paddy a renowned horseman raised his children alone As a family they all took on the daily demands of racehorses and a dairy farm as well as school and work Family meant everything Michelle was put on a horse aged four At five years old her dream was to win the Melbourne Cup At thirty she rode into history as the first female jockey to win the Cup on the outsider Prince of Penzance Her strapper was her brother Stevie So when she declared that anyone who said women couldn't compete with men in the racing industry could get stuffed the nation stood up and cheered It was a moment that inspired everyone who dreams of beating the odds Michelle's hallmark grit and determination were needed in the year after her historic win She took out her jockey trainer licence while continuing the punishing regime of being a jockey But a dramatic fall resulting in a split pancreas meant her year was filled with more rehab and reflection than rides

Anthropology in Sporting Worlds Sean Heath, Benjamin Hildred, Henrike Neuhaus, Thomas Carter, 2025-05-20 To do anthropology in a sporting world one must reckon with the digital As digital technologies become more widespread and increasingly sophisticated people develop new ways to use them when playing watching and learning sport This volume adds to the growing literature in the Anthropology of Sport by framing key debates in the light of this digital context More importantly the authors articulate how apparently trivial contexts such as sport are crucial for exploring the ways human beings incorporate digital technologies in their everyday lives From taekwondo in Argentina to horse riding in Morocco the contributors to this volume explore a diverse range of sports across a variety of global locales Through insightful ethnography they show how fundamental elements of sport including movement competition and values are increasingly mediated by digital technologies Whether it is Sri Lankan cricketers analysing their practice frame by frame English youth swimmers curating their Instagram feeds or women footballers navigating urban spaces safely in Brazil such examples indicate the diverse relationships that exist between sport and the digital Throughout the authors reflect on issues around knowledge collaboration and representation and consider their implications for undertaking anthropological work This reveals how the fundamental relationship between anthropologist and interlocutor continues to change in the digital age This book will be of interest to both students and scholars in anthropology and the social sciences including sociology sports sciences cultural studies geography and history The nuanced yet accessible discussion of method will be useful for students preparing to undertake ethnographic work while the contribution to theoretical debates will aid researchers exploring sport and or the digital The international scope of this volume combined with the broad scope of the arguments therein ensure a wide appeal for many readers Comeback

James Button,2016-08-29 As a boy James Button fell in love with the Geelong Football Club It was a family affair But as the years wore on and the defeats and disappointments mounted it became clear to him his team would never win a flag This book tells the story of his glorious mistake Writing as a reporter not primarily as a fan James interviews hundreds of people to tell the story of how one organisation changed its culture on and off the field He relates not only the fortunes of the team over fifty years but of the town with which it is so closely entwined And he tries to explain why so many of us whoever we barrack for are gripped by an unreasonable passion for football Visions of the 21st Century Martin Schoenhals,Joseph E.
