Paterson, 2023-12-07 This original volume provides the first state of the art overview of research on pronouns in the 21st century With its dedicated sections on grammar history and change language learning acquisition cognition and comprehension power politics and identity The Routledge Handbook of Pronouns shows that contemporary interest in pronouns and gender represents just the tip of the iceberg Led by Laura Paterson a transdisciplinary collection of experts discuss the global history of different pronoun systems synthesize the literature and contextualize the salient issues and current debates shaping research on pronouns across different spheres and via different theoretical methodological traditions The Handbook is designed to encourage readers to engage with a range of perspectives from within and beyond their immediate areas of interest with the ultimate aim of shaping the future trajectory of interdisciplinary multi lingual research on pronouns Using data from multiple languages and engaging deeply with the social cultural political technological and psychological factors that can influence pronoun use this innovative book will be an indispensable resource to scholars and advanced students of theoretical and applied linguistics education and the social and behavioural sciences

Reported Discourse Tom Güldemann, Manfred von Stechow, 2002-09-24 The present volume unites 15 papers on reported discourse from a wide genetic and geographical variety of languages Besides the treatment of traditional problems of reported discourse like the classification of its intermediate categories the book reflects in particular how its grammatical semantic and pragmatic properties have repercussions in other linguistic domains like tense aspect modality evidentiality reference tracking and pronominal categories and the grammaticalization history of quotative constructions Almost all papers present a major shift away from analyzing reported discourse with the help of abstract transformational principles toward embedding it in functional and pragmatic aspects of language Another central methodological approach pervading this collection consists in the discourse oriented examination of reported discourse based on large corpora of spoken or written texts which is increasingly replacing analyses of constructed de contextualized utterances prevalent in many earlier treatments The book closes with a comprehensive bibliography on reported discourse of about 1 000 entries

The Sociolinguistics of Narrative Joanna Thornborrow, Jennifer Coates, 2005 This book aims to appraise sociolinguistic work devoted to the form and function of storytelling and to examine in detail the ways in which narrative constitutes a fundamental discursive resource across a range of contexts The chapters presented here bring together some of the most recent work in the theory and practice of narrative analysis from a broad sociolinguistic perspective They address some of the questions left implicit whenever stories are brought within the analytic frame of sociolinguistics What exactly do we mean by story what kind of social and contextual variations can determine the production and shape of situated stories and what are the core elements of narrative as a discursive unit and interactional resource how is the relationship between narrative discourse and social context articulated in the construction of cultural identities The data come both from institutional settings such as workplaces courtrooms schools and the media as well as from informal everyday settings

Reported Speech in Chinese and English Newspapers XIN Bin,GAO Xiaoli,2021-05-25 Reported speech is a universal form across human languages However previous studies have tended to be limited because they mostly emphasize on the form and authenticity of reported speech while its discourse and pragmatic functions have largely been ignored Meanwhile the studies mainly focus on English with a comparative perspective with other languages largely missing Acknowledging these limitations this book analyzes the textual and pragmatic functions of reported speech in Chinese and English The authors build a corpus comprising of twelve Chinese and English newspapers including China Daily and The New York Times They examine the classification and distribution of reported speech the form and function in different news genres and contexts and the socio pragmatic interpretation of reported speech in news and other issues This title can enrich comparative linguistic research verify the feasibility of combining critical linguistics and corpus technology and help improve the production and understanding of news reports Students and scholars of critical discourse analysis comparative linguistics corpus linguistics as well as communication studies will find this to be an essential guide

The Grammar of Knowledge Alexandra Y. Aikhenvald,R. M. W. Dixon,2014-02-28 The Grammar of Knowledge offers both a linguistic and anthropological perspective on the expression of information sources as well as inferences assumptions probability and possibility and gradations of doubt and beliefs in a range of languages The book investigates twelve different languages from families including Tibeto Burman Nakh Dagestani and Austronesian all of which share the property of requiring the source of information to be specified in every sentence In these languages it may not be possible to say merely that the man went fishing Instead the source of evidence for the statement must also be specified usually through the use of evidential markers For example it may be necessary to indicate whether the speaker saw the man go fishing has simply assumed that the man went fishing or was told that he went fishing by a third party Some languages such as Hinuq and Tatar distinguish between first hand and non first hand information sources others such as Ersu mark three distinct types of information directly required inferred or assumed and reported Some require an even greater level of specification Ash ninka Peren from South America has a specific marker to express suspicions or misgivings Like others in the series the book illustrates and examines these aspects of language in different cultural and linguistic settings It will interest linguists of all persuasions as well as linguistically minded anthropologists

Modals, Pronouns and Complement Clauses Nuria Hernández, Daniela Kolbe, Monika Edith Schulz, 2011-12-23 This is the second volume of the multi volume set A Contemporary Grammar of British English Dialects The book again offers qualitative as well as corpus based quantitative studies on grammatical variation in the British Isles The three parts investigate complement clauses Daniela Kolbe personal pronouns Nuria Hernández and modals Monika Edith Schulz The volume is of interest to dialectologists sociolinguists typologists historical linguists grammarians and anyone working on the structure of spontaneous spoken English Abs , The Marrano Phenomenon Agata Bielik-Robson, 2019-05-09 What we call here the Marrano phenomenon is still a relatively unexplored fact of modern Western culture the presence of the borderline Jewish identity which avoids clear cut cultural and religious attribution but nevertheless exerts significant influence on modern humanities Our aim however is not a historical study of the Marranos or conversos i e the mostly Spanish and Portuguese Jews of the 15th and 16th centuries who were forced to convert to Christianity but were suspected of retaining their Judaism undercover such an approach already exists and has been developed within the field of historical research We rather want to apply the Marrano metaphor to explore the fruitful area of mixture and crossover which allowed modern thinkers writers and artists of the Jewish origin to enter the realm of universal communication without at the same time making them relinquish their Jewishness which they subsequently developed as a hidden tradition What is of special interest to us is the modern development of the non normative forms of religious thinking located on the borderline between Christianity and Judaism from Spinoza to Derrida
