How is a Man Supposed to be a Man? Robin A Hadley, 2021-09-17
The global trend of declining fertility rates and an increasingly ageing population has serious implications for individuals and institutions alike. Childless men are mostly excluded from ageing, social science, and reproduction scholarship and almost completely absent from most national statistics. How to Use Two (2) Computational Strategies to Solve Simple System Identification Problems Rolfe A. Leary, 1972

Qualitative Research Sheila Keegan, 2009-10-03
Qualitative Research helps those who have limited experience of qualitative research to become proficient buyers of research. It will enable buyers to commission QR with confidence to choose a supplier, agree a methodology with the research agency, understand the process, and end up with useful outputs which address the initial research issues. It will help train new practitioners in terms of the basics of qualitative research and it will also develop the knowledge and understanding of more experienced qualitative researchers. Qualitative research explores questions such as what, why, and how rather than how many or how much; it is primarily concerned with meaning rather than measuring. Understanding why individuals and groups think and behave as they do lies at the heart of qualitative research, and market research practitioners and students of market research will all benefit from this title.

Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1988 Green Building Transitions

Julia Affolderbach, Christian Schulz, 2018-05-15. This volume analyzes sustainability-related innovations in the building sector and discusses how regional contexts articulate transition trajectories toward green building. It presents biographies of drivers and processes of green building innovation in four case studies: Brisbane (AUS), Freiburg (GER), Luxembourg (LU), and Vancouver (CA). Two of them are relatively well known for their initiatives to mitigate climate change, particularly in the building sector, whereas the other two have only recently become more active in promoting green building. The volume places emphasis on development paths, learning processes, and innovations. The focus of the case studies is not restricted to purely technological aspects but also integrates regulatory, procedural, institutional, and other processes and routines and their influence on the variations of the building sector. The diversity of the selected case studies offers the reader the opportunity to gain a thorough understanding of how sustainability developments have unfolded in different city regions. Case study-specific catalogues of transition paths provide insights to inform policy debates and planning processes. The catalogues identify crucial innovations, technological, regulatory, etc., and explain the factors and circumstances that have led to their success and broader acceptance in Freiburg, Vancouver, Luxembourg, and Brisbane. With the help of a number of micro case studies within each of the four city regions, the case studies also offer ground for comparison and identification of differences. The book represents the outcome of the GreenRegio project, which stands for Green building in regional strategies for sustainability, multi-actor governance, and innovative building technologies in Europe, Australia, and Canada. GreenRegio was a 3-year CORE-INTER research project funded by the National Research Fund Luxembourg (FNR) and the German Research Foundation (DFG). Chapters 2, 3, 10 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.
