Ageing Israel Doron, 2008-09-25 This book is about trying to answer questions These questions were well introduced by Prof Margaret Hall in the opening of her chapter in this book The fundamental idea of law and aging as a discrete category of legal principle and theory is controversial how and why are older adults or seniors or elders the very terminology is controversial and fraught with difficulties a discrete and distinct group for whom special legal thought and treatment is justified For some a category of law and aging is inherently paternalistic suggesting that older persons are like children especially in need of the protection of the law In this sense the argument continues the category itself internalizes ageist presumptions about older adults and is therefore inherently flawed and even harmful If certain older adults are because of physical or mental infirmities genuinely in need of an enhanced level of legal protection this entitlement should be conceptualized in terms of their disability older adults are not a distinct group but an arbitrarily delineated demographic category which contains within it any number of groups that are legitimately distinct for the purposes of legal theory the disabled women persons of colour Aboriginal persons rich and poor etc Indeed the artificial category of older adults may be seen as obfuscating submerging these more meaningful distinctions Ageing and Executive Control Ulrich Mayr, Reinhold Kliegl, Daniel H. Spieler, 2001 The empirical and theoretical analysis of executive control processes dormant for many years has grown to become one of the most fertile areas of research in cognitive psychology and cognitive neuroscience Because executive functions are thought to have a pervasive role in maintaining optimal information processing across many processing situations issues related to executive control cut across many traditional research divides Unique among many other areas of research in cognition questions about the influence of ageing have figured prominently in executive control research There is accumulating evidence of age related changes in frontal executive functions The union of research on executive functioning with research on the cognitive effects of ageing could provide the theoretical framework for understanding the widespread influence of ageing on cognition This special issue brings together well known researchers in cognitive psychology and cognitive neuroscience who approach the question of executive control using a wide range of methods from traditional behavioural studies quantitative and computational modelling and functional neuroimaging The emphasis of these contributions is on a concise overview and integration of relevant theoretical ideas and empirical findings By bringing together a diverse group of contributors this special issue can serve researchers and students both as a summary of current research and as a starting point toward further explorations on the relations between executive control and the cognitive influences of ageing Ageing and Employment Policies Working Better with Age OECD, 2019-08-30 People today are living longer than ever before but what is a boon for individuals can be challenging for societies If nothing is done to change existing work and retirement patterns the number of older inactive people who will need to be supported by each worker could rise by around 40% between 2018 and 2050 on average in the OECD area This would put a brake on rising living standards as well as enormous pressure on younger generations who will be financing social protection systems

Improving employment prospects of older workers will be crucial At the same time taking a life course approach will be necessary to avoid accumulation of individual disadvantages over work careers that discourage or prevent work at an older age

Brain Rules for Aging Well John Medina, 2021-10-11

Ageing, Ageism and the Law Israel (Issi) Doron, Nena Georgantzi, 2018-11-30 Europe is ageing However in many European countries and in almost all fields of life older persons experience discrimination social exclusion and negative stereotypes that portray them as different or a burden to society This pivotal book is the first of its kind providing a rich and diverse analysis of the inter relationships between ageing ageism and law within Europe

Ageing, Gender and Family Law Beverley Clough, Jonathan Herring, 2018-03-19 This book explores the intersecting issues relating the phenomenon of ageing to gender and family law The latter has tended to focus mainly on family life in young and middle age and indeed the issues of childhood and parenting are key in many family law texts Family life for older members has then been largely neglected addressing this neglect the current volume explores how the issues which might be important for younger people are not necessarily the same as those for older people The significance of family the nature of family life and the understanding of self in terms of one's relationships tend to change over the life course For example the state may play an increasing role in the lives of older people as access to services involvement in work and the community the ability to live independently and to form or maintain caring relationships are all impacted by law and policy This collection therefore challenges the standard models of family life and family law that have been developed within a child parent centred paradigm and which may require rethinking in the turn to family life in old age Interdisciplinary in its scope and orientation this book will appeal not just to academic family lawyers and students interested in issues around family law ageing gender and care but also to sociologists and ethicists working in these areas

Economic Foundations for Creative Ageing Policy, Volume II Andrzej Klimczuk, 2016-12-15 Aging populations are a major consideration for socio economic development in the early 21st century This demographic change is mainly seen as a threat rather than as an opportunity to improve the quality of human life Aging population is taking place in every continent of the world with Europe in the least favourable situation due to its aging population and reduction in economic competitiveness Economic Foundations for Creative Aging Policy offers public policy ideas to construct positive answers for ageing populations This exciting new volume searches for economic solutions that can enable effective social policy concerning the elderly Klimczuk covers theoretical analysis and case study descriptions of good practices to suggest strategies that could be internationally popularised

Home Equity and Ageing Owners Lorna Fox O'Mahony, 2012-01-06 The growing use of housing equity to support a range of activities and needs raises complex issues particularly for older owners In an environment in which older owners are pushed towards housing equity transactions to meet income and welfare costs they are required to make choices from a complex and sometimes bewildering range of options The transactions which facilitate the use of home equity as a resource to spend in later life from trading down and ordinary secured and unsecured debt to targeted products including reverse lifetime mortgages home reversion plans and sale and rentback agreements raise important legal and regulatory issues This book provides a contextual analysis of the financial transactions that older people enter into using their housing equity It traces the protections afforded to older owners through the ordinary law of property and contract as well as the development of specific regulatory protections focused on targeted products The book employs the notion of risk to highlight the nature and causes of the situational vulnerabilities to which older people are now subject as consumers of housing equity showing that the older owner's personal situation is crucial in determining whether and why they may seek to release equity the options and products available to them and the impact of harms resulting from adverse transactions The book critically evaluates the extent to which this context is incorporated in the legal frameworks through which these transactions are governed as a measure of the appropriateness of existing legal provision as well as considering the arguments surrounding special protection for older owners in housing equity transactions
