

Closing Ceremony Speech - SGS MUN 2019

We were all here this weekend to represent our countries, push ourselves in debate, and pass good resolutions. But although our success in these things is important to us, I would like to take a few minutes to talk about, not success, but failure.

Having participated in our discussions, we should remember that there is no such thing as an overnight success; it's a fallacy, a myth pedalled in a world where someone may be virally catapulted to fame as an internet phenomenon in a matter of 24 hours. What I would like us to dwell on as this weekend is drawing to a close, is the work, the process that takes us towards success, towards our goals. That process sometimes includes failure. Not winning an award, but focusing on learning and improving.

There was once a lady in a market place, she saw Picasso and asked him for a self-portrait. He agreed...and drew a perfect picture in 30 seconds. He then handed it back to her and asked for $30,000. She questioned how it could cost that much when it only took him 30 seconds. He replied, "It took me 30 years to be able draw that in 30 seconds".

It's amazing how - so often - the time taken to achieve success is forgotten; how frequently we forget what lies beyond the tip of the iceberg, the shadowy section underneath the water. But that part, the part we don't see, the part full of failure, learning and progress, is absolutely what makes success possible. If we have experienced that success today, it is because we have invested time, valued experience and learned from our mistakes and failures.

When you look at the definition of failure in the dictionary, it is defined by three words: lack of success. If we fear failure and imperfection, it ultimately means that we don't value growth and learning, it means we don't value experience and struggle, and our obsession with winning means that we're actually letting go of what we could be learning at every single point. So I hope that this weekend you have been brave and courageous in your discussions, have not be afraid to express your views. To those of you who did not win awards today, keep trying. There are always more conferences to get involved in. Learn from your mistakes, whether it is improving your public speaking skills, spending more time researching issues or gaining confidence in the committee room. Being open to improvement is important.
