Community Health Workers: Describing the Breadth of Interventions and Contexts Across the World Mathieu Nacher, Nicolas Vignier, 2025-05-15 Social inequalities in health remain a challenging problem throughout the world. Despite a variety of specific contexts, vulnerable populations often present to care later with more advanced health problems and often greater fatality rates at younger ages. To remediate this, health services NGOs project personnel to liaise with the communities and serve as an intermediary between health professionals and patients from vulnerable populations. The denominations may vary: health mediation, cultural mediation, community health workers, Agente de Sa de and sometimes entail different functions. Hard evidence on the impact of these mediators is often lacking because of the differences in contexts, specific health problems considered and what mediation entails in different countries. In this Research Topic, we encourage submissions of articles that describe a range of experiences for different contexts where mediation, health mediation, cultural mediation, community health workers, Agente de Sa de programmes are deployed for public health issues. From this variety of experiences, we hope this special issue will constitute a precious repository of experiences and contexts that could be transferable and scalable interventions for others.

Decolonising African Higher Education Christopher B. Knaus, Takako Mino, Johannes Seroto, 2022-05-26 Across the African continent, college student activists have long fought to decolonise African institutions. Reflecting ongoing Western colonisation, however, Indigenous African languages, thought and structures remain excluded from African universities. Such universities remain steeped in Eurocentric modes of knowing, teaching, researching and communicating. Students are rarely afforded the opportunity to learn about the wealth of knowledge and sustainable wisdom that was and is generated by their own home communities. Such localised Indigenous African perspectives are critical in a world committed to anti-Black racism, capitalist materialism and global destruction. This book thus clarifies decolonial efforts to transform higher education from its anti-Black foundation, offering hope from universities across the continent. Writers are university administrators and faculty who directly challenge contemporary colonial education, exploring tangible ways to decolonise structures, curricula, pedagogy, research and community relationships. Ultimately, this book moves beyond structural transformation to call for a global commitment to develop Indigenous African-led systems of higher education that foster multilingual communities, local knowledges and localised approaches to global problems. In shifting from a Western-centric lens to multifaceted African centrism, the authors reclaim decoloniality from co-optation, repositioning African intellectualism at the core of global higher education to sustain an Ubuntu-based humanity.
