Spradlin,P.B. Porterfield,2012-12-06 Who are we What are we How do we fit into the world Or into the universe These and other questions pertaining to ourselves and our environment are as compelling to us today as they were to our primitive ancestors Throughout our history we have developed paradigms of thought that have attempted to answer these questions each conceptual framework being particularly relevant to its age We are in the twentieth century witnessing a complete reorganization of our thinking We are now with the aid of technology able to bring together both ancient and new patterns of thought and to observe the emergence of a kaleidoscopic world view that is uniting the once dissonant theories of philosophy religion and science This book sketches an historical picture of three world views that have shaped our ideas about ourselves These conceptual formats that have so influenced us are not mutually exclusive and are present in all of us simultaneously although to varying degrees depending upon our individual biases Physics Briefs ,1986 The World of Learning 1981-82 Bernan Associates,1981 Science as a Spiritual Practice Imants Barušs,2015-10-21 Science as a Spiritual Practice is in three parts In the first part the author argues that there are problems with materialism and that self transformation could lead individual scientists to more comprehensive ways of understanding reality In the second part he takes on the contentious notion of inner knowledge and shows how access to inner knowledge could be possible in some altered states of consciousness The third part is an analysis of the philosophy of Franklin Wolff who claimed that the transcendent states of consciousness which occurred for him resulted from his mathematical approach to spirituality English Mechanic and Mirror of Science ,1901 American Men and Women of Science ,1979 Thermodynamics and Ecological Modelling Sven E.
