Rhino Poaching Memo:

Operation Lock and the War on Rhino Poaching John Hanks, 2015-05-08 The aggressive poaching of rhinos needs to be countered with equal aggression So argued Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands the founder president of the World Wide Fund for Nature WWF at a 1987 meeting with John Hanks conservation expert and WWF's head in Africa The result was Operation Lock a secret initiative funded by Prince Bernhard and staffed by former SAS operatives Operation Lock set up headquarters in Johannesburg and extended its reach into neighbouring states Namibia Zambia Botswana Swaziland and Mozambique Its operatives planned to train game rangers to pose as rhino horn traders in order to entrap buyers and to expose the kingpins who were driving the trade It was a controversial approach all the more because it was working within apartheid South Africa in the late 1980s When the existence of the project was finally leaked WWF denied any involvement and John Hanks took the fall In Operation Lock and the War on Rhino Poaching John Hanks finally tells the story of these explosive events from 25 years ago As a leading international authority on conservation he also deals with the scourge of rhino poaching up to the present and gives powerful and controversial criticism of some of the current policies to curb poaching

Rhino War Johan Jooste, Tony Park, 2022-07-01 In 2012 retired South African general Johan Jooste was parachuted into the seemingly unwinnable war against rhino poaching in the Kruger National Park With poaching spiralling out of control Jooste was given the mandate to go military to convert Kruger's ranger corps into a paramilitary force capable of taking the fight to the poachers Aged 60 white and a veteran with 35 years military service Jooste's controversial appointment was immediately met with resentment and outright hostility by elements of South African National Parks the police and even the military with which he had served With the media government conservationists human rights activists and the people of South Africa looking over his shoulder Jooste had to battle opponents within and without to carry out his strategy for turning the tide on rhino poaching Rhino War tells how Jooste facing an unprecedented assault on a national park and a single species turned a force of demoralised men and women into arguably the finest anti poaching unit on the African continent Told through his eyes these stories of the courage and grit of rangers who risked their lives to protect wildlife in the face of a wily and determined foe are an account of heroism sacrifice and determination Humbly honestly and decisively Jooste tells of the successes and failures of his bold strategy and shares his vision for the future

Sachsman,2021-08-04 Communicating Endangered Species Extinction News and Public Policy is a multidisciplinary environmental communication book that takes a distinctive approach by connecting how media and culture depict and explain endangered species with how policymakers and natural resource managers can or do respond to these challenges in practical terms Extinction isn't new However the pace of extinction is accelerating globally The International Union for Conservation of Nature classifies more than 26 000 species as threatened The causes are many including climate change overdevelopment human exploitation disease overhunting habitat destruction and predators The willingness and the ability of ordinary people governments scientists nongovernmental organizations and businesses to slow this deeply disturbing acceleration are uncertain Meanwhile researchers around the world are laboring to better understand and communicate the possibility and implications of extinctions and to discover effective tools and public policies to combat the threats to species survival This book presents a history of news coverage of endangered species around the world examining how and why journalists and other communicators wrote what they did how attitudes have changed and why they have changed It draws on the latest research by chapter authors who are a mix of social scientists communication experts and natural scientists Each chapter includes a mass media and or cultural aspect This book will be essential reading for students natural resource managers government officials environmental activists and academics interested in conservation and biodiversity environmental communication and journalism and public policy Protecting Forest and Marine Biodiversity Ed Couzens,Alexander Paterson,Sophie Riley,Yanti Fristikawati,2017-11-24 This timely book contributes to discussions on the best legal practices to use to promote conservation protection and sustainable use of biological diversity in forest and marine areas The breadth of issues explored across these two themes is immense and the book identifies both key differences and striking commonalities between them Research Anthology on Business Continuity and Navigating Times of Crisis Management Association, Information Resources,2022-01-07 When the COVID 19 pandemic caused a halt in global society many business leaders found themselves unprepared for the unprecedented change that swept across industry Whether the need to shift to remote work or the inability to safely conduct business during a global pandemic many businesses struggled in the transition to the new normal In the wake of the pandemic these struggles have created opportunities to study how businesses navigate these times of crisis The Research Anthology on Business Continuity and Navigating Times of Crisis discusses the strategies cases and research surrounding business continuity throughout crises such as pandemics This book analyzes business operations and the state of the economy during times of crisis and the qualified individual to fill the post In 2004 the Committee called for a new database to record all wildlife crime but this has still not been introduced Internationally this report also examines how the rhino tiger and elephant are being driven to extinction by growing demand for illegal wildlife products in south east Asia and China The Government needs to exert robust diplomatic pressure in favour of the development and enforcement of wildlife law at the next CITES meeting in March 2013 In particular the Government should focus attention on the damaging effect of one off sales of impounded ivory which has been found to actually fuel demand for ivory products and seek an unequivocal international ban on all forms of ivory trade
