Erotic Bird Maurice Natanson, 2021-09-14 How does literature illuminate the way we live Maurice Natanson a prominent champion of phenomenology draws upon this method's unique power to show how fiction can highlight aspects of experience that are normally left unexamined. By exploring the structure of the everyday world, Natanson reveals the uncanny that lies at the core of the ordinary. Phenomenology, which involves the questioning of that which we usually take for granted, is for Natanson the essence of philosophy. Drawing upon his philosophical predecessors Edmund Husserl, Alfred Schutz, and Jean Paul Sartre, Natanson paves his own way with stories and examples that themselves bear witness to how phenomenology occurs in literature. In considering such works as Samuel Beckett's Waiting for Godot, Thomas Mann's The Magic Mountain, and Franz Kafka's The Metamorphosis, Natanson shows how literature opens us to the domain of possibility and how metaphor offers philosophical power when we think about freedom and change. This book, written by one of the twentieth century's leading phenomenologists, will interest students in philosophy and in literature. They will value the work particularly for its clarification of concepts and terms that frequently emerge in the contemporary intellectual climate. Mental Health Crisis in Higher Education Aloka, Peter, 2023-12-29 The COVID 19 pandemic brought about a sudden transition from traditional face to face instruction to online and blended learning. The repercussions of this seismic change have left an indelible mark on students, particularly those thrust into the challenging realm of fully engaging in online learning during this tumultuous period. By delving into stressors, coping mechanisms, and the intricate web of factors influencing emotional, psychological, and physical well being, the book is an invaluable resource for academics, researchers, and institutions seeking to understand and address the multifaceted dimensions of student well being. The

Plurality of Power Sarah Cowie, 2011-02-15 How do people experience power within capitalist societies? Research presented here explicitly addresses the notion of pluralistic power, which encompasses both productive and oppressive forms of power, and acknowledges that nuanced and multifaceted power relations can exist in combination with binary dynamics such as domination and resistance. This volume addresses growing interests in linking past and present power relationships engendered by capitalism and in conducting historical archaeology as anthropology. The Plurality of Power: Industrial Capitalism and the Nineteenth Century Company Town of Fayette, Michigan explores the subtle distribution of power within American industrial capitalism through a case study of a company town. Issues surrounding power and agency are explored in regard to three heuristic categories of power. In the first category, the company imposed a system of structural class based power that is most visible in hierarchical differences in pay and housing, as well as consumer behavior. A second category addresses disciplinary activities surrounding health and the human body as observed in the built environment. Medical

Morris, Joseph Amaral, 2012-11-14 As a whole the essays in this book address theoretical and empirical issues related to children's learning and cognition. The first essay titled Learning in Cognitive Niches treats the process of sense making on a theoretical level discussing the complexity of factors that give rise to children's learning. It is followed by an essay titled Using the Dynamics of a Person Context System to Describe Children's Understanding of Air Pressure that applies ideas from complexity science and dynamics systems theory to children's learning about science. The next four essays summarize and synthesize already published findings in an effort to go beyond individual viewpoints and present a more nuanced picture of children's sense making. In particular two of these summaries Preschoolers Learning Science: Myth or Reality and The Emergence of Scientific Reasoning focus on children's ability to make sense of their physical environment. The essay Cognition and the Child Witness: Understanding the Impact of Cognitive Development in Forensic Contexts seeks to shed light on children's sense making relevant to forensic issues. And the essay Beyond the Black and White of Autism: How Cognitive Performance Varies with Context ventures in the area of autism, a disorder that demonstrates atypical processes of combining pieces of information. The final two essays provide original data to add to the discussion of what factors affect cognitive functioning. In particular the essay Cognitive Fitness in Young Adult Video Game Players seeks to reassess the often assumed relation between video gaming and various aspects of thinking, memory, intelligence, and visual spatial abilities. And the essay Impact of Moving Away from Home on Undergraduate Metacognitive Development explicitly connects life circumstances to the ability to monitor and control one's thinking. Together the collection of essays are a further step towards understanding the process of sense making as children and young adults interact with their environment. Reflective
